O R D E R

Ryan Dillon-Capps filed this appeal seeking our review of the district court’s order denying Dillon-Capps’ motion for reconsideration of the district court’s prior order dismissing multiple defendants from Dillon-Capps’ civil action against several defendants. Days after filing the appeal, Dillon-Capps filed an “Emergency Motion . . . for Injunction Pending Appeal” and an “Emergency Motion for Review by a Single Judge.” After due consideration, we deny both motions. See United States v. Texas, __ U.S. __, __, 144 S. Ct. 797, 798 (2024) (“Deciding whether to grant a stay pending appeal requires consideration of . . . four . . . factors, which include an assessment of the applicant’s likelihood of success on the merits.”); 4th Cir. R. 27\(e\) (“Application to a single judge should be made only in exceptional circumstances where action by a panel would be impractical due to the requirements of time.”).
