AFFIDAVIT OF HARM

I, Ryan Dillon-Capps, being over the age of eighteen (18) and competent to testify, and having personal knowledge of the facts contained herein, state as follows:

A Due Process Denied

1 During the June 26th and 27th hearings, Judge Barranco informally evaluated my mental health and concluded that I was not sufficiently disabled, disregarding the complexity of my condition. As I continue to review the transcripts of these hearings, it is clear that my memory of that day is incomplete and fragmented. In fact, reading the transcript feels more like reading about someone else's experience rather than recalling something I lived through, illustrating the depth of my cognitive impairments.

2 This lack of full recollection underscores the fact that I was not in a condition to effectively participate in the hearings. The court's failure to recognize or accommodate my mental state during these proceedings is a clear violation of my due process rights. Due process, as guaranteed by the Fourteenth Amendment, ensures that parties have the right to fully participate in legal proceedings. In Mathews v. Eldridge, 424 U.S. 319 (1976), the U.S. Supreme Court ruled that due process requires meaningful participation, which was denied to me due to the court's failure to properly address my condition.

3 By continuing the proceedings without appropriate accommodations for my mental health, the court failed to uphold its obligations under the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA). The ADA requires that individuals with disabilities be provided reasonable accommodations to ensure equal access to justice. In my case, the court neither acknowledged my condition nor provided the necessary accommodations, further contributing to my inability to fully engage with the legal process.

B Anatomical Harm or Actual Harm

4 We are not merely bodies connected to a brain; we are our brains. The body is the collection of things we are connected to, yet when those parts are harmed, we often say we are harmed. However, when we, as the brain, are the ones injured—when our mind suffers—the law frequently diminishes the significance of that harm. Rather than acknowledging the core of the harm, the law tends to focus on the physical or anatomical damage to the body and grants more substantial recognition, and often greater financial compensation, for those harms.

5 We draw distinctions like "mental illness" versus "illness," but perhaps the more accurate framing is that illness describes when we—our core, our brain—are unwell, while anatomical illness refers to when parts of the body are in disrepair. The very word "anatomical" comes from the Greek "anatome," where "ana" means apart, and "tome" means to cut or to incise. Historically, this suggested that the body is simply pieces of us that are apart from us—extensions, not the essence.

6 In my case, it is important to recognize that I was harmed—not just anatomically but fundamentally. My brain—which is me—was harmed. Reading the transcript is a stark reminder of this fact. It feels less like I am recalling a memory and more like I am reading about the experience of someone else, as my memory from that day remains incomplete. This should emphasize that the harm I experienced is no less significant than what is typically considered "physical" injury. It is, in fact, actual harm to the brain—the most integral part of who I am.

7 Furthermore, when Judge Barranco attempted to evaluate my health on June 26th and 27th, it was clear that such a determination was made without the necessary training or expertise to properly assess the state of my mental health. This underscores a larger systemic issue: how many others have been denied basic rights and recognition of harm due to a similar lack of understanding about the human brain?

8 It is crucial to remember that under Titles I, II, and III of the ADA, the question of disability and the need for accommodation are not the court's decision to make without proper medical evidence. Judges are not tasked with determining disability; the law already provides clear guidelines, removing the burden of such determinations from them. In my case, medical documentation was submitted to Judge Truffer on June 18th, and by June 26th and 27th, no further inquiry into my health was warranted. Yet I was subjected to an inquisition, as was my wife, who had to testify about witnessing my struggles. The pain I felt listening to her account was profound, and while the record captures only my words—“I'm sorry”—that moment held much more.

9 The record does not fully reflect the harm—mental and emotional—that stood before Miles & Stockbridge, Richard Hartman, Justin Drummond, and the court itself. My injury was not merely anatomical, and it is essential to recognize that harm to the brain is not a lesser harm but an equally substantial, if not more profound, injury than any that may be inflicted on the body.

C Missing Context

Twitching, Shaking, and Winning

10 I walked into the courtroom on that day, carrying bags of papers, and I remember consciously trying to look less injured. I was trying to minimize the tremor-like shaking in my hands and arms as I clenched and stretched my fingers, seeking some futile relief. As my neck pulled, manifesting a tick-like twitch, my focus would shift from my hands to the courtroom around me, wondering if anyone was watching. I was embarrassed, but I forced myself not to show it.

11 If this were an anatomical injury, one might picture blood spilling all over the table and the floor, and the absurdity of someone thinking, "I sure hope no one is staring at me right now." The thought that anyone would focus on my behavior, instead of the very real evidence of my harm, seems ridiculous. Yet, that is the reality of the world we live in—where mental or financial harm is diminished, and instead of receiving help, people are told they don't seem injured enough. What stands out most from that day is Judge Barranco's conclusion: that I wasn't injured enough, and that my injuries didn't merit the same level of consideration as someone without them. His basis for this conclusion? The fact that I had articulated one part of one motion.

12 When I read back what I said that day, I realize I didn't need to say much more. Even without considering my injury, I should have walked out of the courtroom with the case dismissed. There were three different reasons for the case to be moved to federal court: the Family and Medical Leave Act (FMLA), as I had given advance notice before any action was taken against me; the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA), since taking a day off for health reasons is more than reasonable; and finally, FTC v. Wyndham, which provides clear precedent for security and compliance issues. These legal principles should have been enough to end the case then and there, yet the harm was allowed to continue.

13 The argument presented by the opposing party was essentially this: PCI Compliance was treated as a mere contractual obligation, and they speculated that potential harm might occur at some future point, without offering any concrete evidence. Based on this speculative harm, they insisted that I had breached the contract by refusing to act against it. Their demand was that I violate multiple contractual obligations by assigning access without justification or defense. When I refused to comply, they threatened a retaliatory lawsuit, pushing the narrative that unless I agreed to breach the contract, they would claim I had breached my contract with them. Remarkably, this twisted logic held up for months.

14 The record shows that for three months, this argument prevailed. When I challenged the involvement of Hartman Executive Advisors, their representative, Daniel Levett, claimed that they had been involved all along and had simply chosen to ignore my emails—correspondence that would have provided satisfaction if addressed. This was yet another example of Estoppe—a tactic regularly employed by Miles & Stockbridge to fabricate a basis for their arguments. Levett's other statement was equally troubling: He accused me of being a liar due to my memory issues, despite knowing full well that my condition affected my recall. They further contradicted themselves by first claiming that no one had access, only to then argue that I had failed to grant access, even though it had already been granted. This type of manipulation is indicative of the fraudulent nature of this entire lawsuit.

15 It is hard not to feel cynical about this process. I don't believe I even needed to show up to court or to know that this lawsuit existed. In fact, Miles & Stockbridge did such a thorough job disproving their own arguments—filing incomplete contracts and perjured statements, which even included admissions of guilt. The real question is, why did they join me to this case? The answer is simple: Harm. Their intent from the start has been to inflict harm on me—on my reputation, on my financial base, and on my ability to function, stripping me of the means to live my life.

16 They remain successful in this goal. I have been reduced to a state where I am imprisoned by inaction, forced to watch as my financial base bleeds out slowly. As the days pass, I edge closer to the catastrophic moment when no action can reverse the damage, because you cannot undo death. And not all forms of death involve anatomical harm. One can be financially bled to death, and society will watch, telling you it's okay because it's just blood—implying that as long as you had blood, the fact that you're bleeding now is not a problem.

17 It has now been 45 days since I filed my Opposition to the Request for Entry of Default Order, and 112 days since Miles & Stockbridge first advanced their retaliatory and baseless claims. They did so without presenting particularized harm, causation, or complete contracts, all while the admissions in the record reveal the true nature of this case. Despite the clear evidence of bad faith, I am left waiting as this harm drags on, with no resolution in sight.

18 To further demonstrate the lack of necessity for me to be a party of this lawsuit, I am including an extract of every communication form ryan@mxt3.com that is includes someone from @milesstockbridge.com. All signatures and redundancy have been removed by automation and line breaks are inserted to show each email as it is by itself. Additionally, it is sorted not by conversation by as a timeline so regardless of any attempt to hide the context of the conversation it is seen in order with its context maintained. Ohana Growth Partners and Miles & Stockbridge will change subject headers, reply to a different thread, new threads, and even try to slip in changes.

OHANA GROWTH PARTNERS, LLC	IN THE
Plaintiff,	CIRCUIT COURT
vs.	FOR
RYAN DILLON-CAPPS	BALTIMORE COUNTY
Defendant.	CASE NO: C-03-CV-24-002264

AMENDED MOTION FOR MANDATORY INJUNCTION TO RESTORE LOST PAY DUE TO FINANCIAL URGENCY

1 Defendant, Ryan Dillon-Capps, hereby submits this Amended Motion for Mandatory Injunction to Restore Lost Pay Due to Financial Urgency and states as follows:

I INCORPORATED BY REFERENCE

2 Ryan Dillon-Capps incorporates and adopts by reference all factual averments, arguments, and documents contained in all of the Defendant's motions, affidavits, petitions, notices, amendments, exhibits, and other papers filed or submitted in this case, regardless of their current status (pending, denied, granted, or otherwise), pursuant to Md. Rule 2-303(d) ("Statements in a pleading or other paper of record may be adopted by reference in a different part of the same pleading or paper of record or in another pleading or paper of record."). This incorporation includes, but is not limited to, any filings made contemporaneously with or subsequent to this motion, ensuring that all submissions are considered as part of the record for purposes of this proceeding, in real time.

3 Reservation of Rights: The Defendant reserves the right to amend, withdraw, or exclude any specific filing, document, or factual averment from this comprehensive incorporation at any point, by submitting a formal notice or motion to the Court.

II LEGAL ARGUMENT FOR FILING AN AMENDED MOTION WITHIN 30 DAYS OF FILING AND BEFORE THE SCHEDULING OF A HEARING

4 Maryland Rule 2-341(a) provides that a party may amend a motion or pleading once as a matter of course without leave of court if the amendment is filed within 30 days of the original filing or before the scheduling of a hearing. This rule is intended to give parties the opportunity to adjust their filings during the early stages of litigation, allowing for the inclusion of newly discovered facts, clarified legal arguments, or additional evidence, without unnecessary procedural hurdles.

TIMELY AMENDMENT UNDER MARYLAND RULE 2-341(A)

5 The Defendant's Amended Motion, originally filed on October 15, is being submitted on October 21, well within the 30-day period permitted by Rule 2-341(a). This filing is timely and does not require leave of court, as it is being filed before any hearing has been scheduled on the motion.

6 In Schmerling v. Injured Workers' Ins. Fund, 368 Md. 434, 794 A.2d 720 (2002), the Maryland Court of Appeals held that amendments should be liberally allowed in the early stages of litigation, as long as they do not cause undue delay or prejudice. The Defendant's amended motion consolidates existing legal arguments and expands on them, providing a more complete and thorough review of the facts in advance of any hearings, thus serving the interests of justice.

PURPOSE OF RULE 2-341(A) – FAIRNESS AND JUDICIAL EFFICIENCY

7 Rule 2-341(a) is designed to promote fairness and efficiency by allowing parties to refine or expand upon their pleadings and motions before significant procedural steps are taken. This amendment consolidates and clarifies the Defendant's legal and factual arguments, allowing the court to address all relevant issues in a single, organized filing. The Maryland courts have emphasized that early amendments foster judicial efficiency and prevent unnecessary delays (See State v. Williams, 326 Md. 367, 605 A.2d 103 (1992)).

8 In this case, the Defendant is amending the motion to ensure that all arguments are consolidated and expanded in one filing. This amendment is necessary to provide the court and the Plaintiff with a complete review of the facts and legal bases supporting the Defendant's position. Notably, this amendment follows the urgent hearing ruling on October 11, which was related to a separate filing on October 8. The urgent hearing ordered by the desk of the administrative judge has yet to be scheduled. Therefore, this amended motion ensures the court has a comprehensive understanding of the Defendant's arguments prior to any hearings.

NO PREJUDICE TO THE PLAINTIFF

9 This amendment causes no prejudice to the Plaintiff, as it is being filed before the scheduling of any hearing and consolidates existing arguments without raising new issues. Davidson v. Katz, 254 Md. 69, 254 A.2d 700 (1969), makes clear that amendments should be granted as long as they do not unfairly prejudice the opposing party. Here, the Plaintiff has ample time to review and respond to the amended filing prior to any scheduled hearings.

10 The Plaintiff will not be unfairly disadvantaged by this amendment, as it merely clarifies and organizes the legal and factual arguments already raised in prior filings, allowing for a more complete and organized presentation of the Defendant's case.

JUDICIAL EFFICIENCY AND THE PENDING URGENT HEARING

11 Amending the motion at this stage promotes judicial efficiency, especially in light of the unscheduled urgent hearing, which was ordered by the desk of the administrative judge but has not yet been scheduled. As recognized in Veney v. Prince George's County, 248 Md. App. 101, 240 A.3d 303 (2020), early amendments to motions help streamline litigation and ensure that the court and opposing parties have the most up-to-date and complete information prior to hearings.

12 By filing this amended motion, the Defendant ensures that the court has a single, consolidated filing that addresses all relevant facts and legal arguments, avoiding confusion and preventing the need for multiple filings. The amendment also allows the court to review all relevant arguments in one filing prior to any scheduled hearings, making the process more efficient.

FILING BEFORE THE SCHEDULING OF A HEARING

13 Maryland Rule 2-341(a) permits amendments to be filed before any hearing is scheduled. Although the court issued a ruling on a separate issue on October 11 following the filing on October 8, no hearing has been scheduled in connection with the Defendant's motion filed on October 15. As a result, the amended motion is timely and appropriate under the rule.

14 In City of Frederick v. Pickett, 392 Md. 411, 897 A.2d 228 (2006), the court confirmed that amendments filed before hearings are especially appropriate when they serve to consolidate and clarify arguments, thus ensuring that both parties have a full understanding of the issues before appearing in court. Filing this amended motion now allows the court and the Plaintiff to engage with the most accurate and complete legal arguments without procedural complications.

CONCLUSION

15 Under Maryland Rule 2-341(a), the Defendant has the right to amend the motion as a matter of course within 30 days of the original filing (October 15) and before the scheduling of any hearing. This amended motion consolidates and expands upon the existing arguments to ensure that the court and the opposing party have a comprehensive understanding of the facts and legal positions. This amendment also promotes judicial efficiency, particularly in light of the unscheduled urgent hearing ordered following the court's ruling on October 11. As no hearing has been scheduled on this amended motion, and no prejudice will result to the Plaintiff, this filing is appropriate and timely under Rule 2-341(a).

III Motion for Mandatory Injunctive Relief

16 Defendant Ryan Dillon-Capps, pursuant to Maryland Rule 15-501 et seq., respectfully moves this Court for Mandatory Injunctive Relief to address the immediate financial harm being suffered due to the wrongful actions of the Plaintiff, Ohana Growth Partners, LLC, and states the following:

IV FACTUAL BACKGROUND

17 Defendant, Ryan Dillon-Capps, has suffered severe financial and reputational harm as a direct result of Plaintiff Ohana Growth Partners, LLC's bad faith actions, including the wrongful suspension and withholding of critical compensation and benefits. This harm has occurred at a crucial time when the Defendant was preparing to launch a business based on the Three-Stage Evolution of Technology Model (TSETM), a predictive model designed to leverage natural language processing (NLP) technology for revolutionary business solutions.

18 The TSETM model successfully predicted the maturation of NLP technologies, such as GPT models, and identified 2024 as the optimal time for launching a business venture aimed at capitalizing on this technological wave. The Defendant's business, positioned to use this cutting-edge model, was set to drive global social and economic impact. However, the Plaintiff's actions, which include wrongful termination, withholding of refinancing bonuses, and dissemination of defamatory statements, have disrupted this opportunity and led to irreparable harm.

19 Plaintiff's conduct has resulted in the following:

20 Loss of business opportunities: The Defendant's business, based on the TSETM model, was on the verge of launch in 2024, but Plaintiff's actions have caused the loss of key investors and partners who are now distancing themselves due to the litigation.

21 Severe financial strain: Plaintiff's refusal to compensate the Defendant, including withholding bonuses during the April-July 2024 period, has placed the Defendant at risk of default and caused substantial financial hardship.

22 Exacerbation of mental health conditions: The stress and financial uncertainty resulting from Plaintiff's conduct has aggravated the Defendant's pre-existing Post-Traumatic Stress Disorder (PTSD), leading to physical and cognitive impairments, including memory issues and periods of catatonia.

23 On October 11, 2024, the court entered a ruling related to a prior filing made on October 8, ordering a 10-day unscheduled urgent hearing. In light of this hearing, and to ensure that all relevant arguments and facts are consolidated, the Defendant now seeks to amend the original motion filed on October 15, 2024, providing the court with a comprehensive review of the claims and the irreparable harm caused by Plaintiff's continued bad faith conduct.

V LEGAL STANDARD FOR INJUNCTIVE RELIEF

24 Under Maryland Rule 15-501 et seq., a party seeking injunctive relief must demonstrate that irreparable harm is imminent, and that there is no adequate remedy at law. In this case, Defendant Ryan Dillon-Capps faces immediate and significant financial harm directly caused by the Plaintiff's wrongful conduct, including the wrongful suspension of pay, the withholding of critical bonuses, and the ongoing pursuit of baseless claims.

25 Without the court's intervention through mandatory injunctive relief, the Defendant will suffer irreparable harm, as the loss of business opportunities, financial hardship, and the aggravation of severe health conditions cannot be adequately remedied by a monetary award after the fact.

26 The urgent nature of this harm is underscored by the October 11, 2024 ruling, which ordered a 10-day unscheduled urgent hearing based on the Defendant's financial emergency. This ruling, following the October 8, 2024 filing, highlights the immediate need for relief to prevent further financial collapse. Despite the court's attention to the urgent circumstances, a hearing has not yet been scheduled, leaving the Defendant exposed to continued harm.

27 Furthermore, this amended motion consolidates the Defendant's legal and factual arguments that have been presented in prior filings, while expanding upon them to provide the court with a comprehensive review of the claims. Given that no hearing has yet been scheduled, this amendment ensures that all critical facts and legal arguments are presented in one coherent filing, promoting judicial efficiency.

28 Defendant has demonstrated that without immediate injunctive relief, there will be irreparable harm, including:

1. The imminent loss of business opportunities tied to the TSETM model, as key investors and partners have withdrawn support due to the Plaintiff's actions.
2. Significant financial strain caused by the withholding of compensation and bonuses, placing the Defendant at risk of default and inability to meet basic obligations.
3. Aggravation of the Defendant's mental and physical health, particularly his PTSD, which has resulted in cognitive impairment and further undermines his ability to recover.
4. The granting of this motion is essential to protect the Defendant's business, personal assets, and health, which are at risk of permanent damage without immediate court intervention.

VI FINANCIAL URGENCY AND IMMINENT HARM

29 As detailed in the Affidavit of Financial Urgency, submitted in Envelope 18415895,
(if the unredacted versions of the exhibits are not visible to the Court – they will be submitted at the upcoming urgent hearing)

30 Defendant is facing irreparable harm that cannot be fully compensated through monetary awards. The Defendant's business and personal assets are at immediate risk of being lost due to the financial strain caused by the Plaintiff's wrongful actions. Over the course of 15 years, the Defendant has invested his life savings and significant personal funds into a business model based on the TSETM model, which had begun to materialize successfully by March 2023. The Plaintiff's wrongful suspension of pay, coupled with the continued pursuit of baseless legal claims, has severely undermined key business relationships and disrupted introductions to critical investment pools. These relationships were essential not only for securing funding but also for developing pitch decks and other preparatory materials required for the business launch in 2024. The Defendant's ability to leverage these partnerships for the success of his venture has now been destroyed due to the false representations and public defamation caused by this litigation.

31 The business opportunities lost due to the Plaintiff's actions include the collapse of valuable introductions facilitated by individuals who had been supporting the Defendant's reputation and business idea. These individuals were pivotal in securing access to their investment pool and actively participated in preparing pitch materials for potential investors. However, due to the false and defamatory nature of the lawsuit, these introductions and opportunities have been withdrawn, causing irreparable harm to the Defendant's ability to launch his business. Furthermore, as outlined in the Affidavit of Harm, the Defendant's severe PTSD, dissociative episodes, and memory impairments have rendered him unable to manage the damage, leading to further financial losses and the collapse of a 15-year business development plan.

32 The Plaintiff's law firm, Miles & Stockbridge, has no similar burden, as they are financially supported by the Plaintiff and benefit from the prolongation of litigation.

33 The Plaintiff's continued wrongful suspension of the Defendant's pay and refusal to engage in good faith negotiations has created a situation in which the Defendant is facing imminent financial destruction. Under Maryland law, mandatory injunctive relief is appropriate when the financial harm is not only severe but irreparable, and where monetary damages at a later stage will not suffice to remedy the ongoing harm. The Defendant's Affidavit of Financial Urgency details the extensive financial damage and emotional distress and highlights the Plaintiff's use of procedural delays to strategically disadvantage the Defendant.

34 Monetary compensation at the end of this litigation will not suffice to reverse the damage caused by the Plaintiff's intentional delays. The loss of business standing, reputation, and the Defendant's inability to pay critical expenses require immediate court intervention. Without mandatory injunctive relief, the Defendant's financial situation will deteriorate to the point of no recovery.

35 The Defendant's mental and emotional well-being has been significantly affected by the Plaintiff's wrongful conduct, which includes continued litigation and defamatory public records. The emotional and psychological stress caused by Plaintiff's bad faith actions—such as wrongful suspension, the withholding of compensation, and the baseless lawsuit—has triggered severe manifestations of the Defendant's Post-Traumatic Stress Disorder (PTSD). These symptoms now include not only anxiety and panic attacks but also episodes of catatonia and severe memory failures, as detailed in the Affidavit of Harm and Affidavit of Caroline.

Dillon-Capps. The Defendant's worsening mental state places him at life-threatening risk, as these symptoms have become more frequent and intense since the onset of litigation.

36 The Plaintiff's continued bad faith litigation tactics and refusal to release due compensation has deepened the Defendant's financial strain. As outlined in the Affidavit of Financial Urgency, the Defendant's accounts are now overdrawn, and credit limits have been reduced due to missed payments. The Defendant's mental health crisis has left him unable to maintain his business or manage his financial affairs. This lawsuit, which falsely portrays the Defendant in a negative light, has caused potential investors and business partners to sever ties, resulting in the complete collapse of 15 years of preparation and business development. The loss of these partnerships, combined with the Defendant's inability to continue business operations due to health issues, constitutes irreparable harm that cannot be remedied by monetary damages after the litigation concludes.

37 However, for many individuals who cannot afford to defend themselves against such actions, these small claims result in greater financial burdens, often costing more to defend than the amounts in dispute. This pattern of behavior demonstrates that Plaintiff frequently uses the court system as a tool to impose unjust burdens on those with limited means, even when the overall cost of litigation is a net negative for both parties.

38 This case is not the exception to the rule, but rather a part of a larger pattern of litigation abuse by Ohana Growth Partners. This Court should be mindful of this pattern when assessing the evidence presented by the Plaintiff, as future litigation involving this Plaintiff should be subject to greater scrutiny to prevent similar abuses of the legal process.

39 Until such scrutiny is applied, the Defendant's financial situation remains in crisis.

Without immediate injunctive relief, Defendant is at risk of losing his business, personal assets, and the ability to recover financially. The Plaintiff's fraudulent actions in this case continue to threaten Defendant's financial survival.

40 The pattern of litigation abuse shown by Ohana Growth Partners and PF Growth Partners in public records reflects a systemic issue in which the Plaintiff uses baseless litigation to impose undue financial burdens on those who cannot easily defend themselves. This case should not be viewed in isolation, but as part of a broader misuse of the court system.

41 The Defendant's current financial situation, exacerbated by the Plaintiff's conduct, requires this Court to intervene with mandatory injunctive relief. Without such relief, Defendant's financial collapse is imminent, a harm that cannot be repaired through monetary damages at the conclusion of litigation. The ongoing harm inflicted by the Plaintiff is not only financially destructive but constitutes a misuse of legal process that this Court has the power to address.

VII PLAINTIFF'S BREACH AND CONTINUED HARM

42 Plaintiff, Ohana Growth Partners, LLC, has continuously acted in bad faith throughout this litigation. After breaching an accord on June 13, 2024, Plaintiff refused to negotiate in good faith, engaging in unlawful conduct that caused significant financial and emotional harm to the Defendant. Plaintiff's deliberate refusal to resolve the matter through reasonable negotiation, coupled with its continued pursuit of baseless and fraudulent claims, has only compounded the harm inflicted on the Defendant.

PLAINTIFF'S CONDUCT INCLUDES:

1. Wrongful suspension and termination of the Defendant without pay, constituting a violation of Maryland employment law, which protects employees from wrongful termination and entitles them to compensation upon unjust termination (See Md. Code Ann., Lab. & Empl. § 3-501).
2. Denial of time off benefits, including withholding of compensation for accrued and payable time upon termination, in violation of both FMLA and Maryland law. Under FMLA (29 U.S.C. § 2601 et seq.), employees are entitled to time off, and failure to pay accrued benefits upon termination violates Md. Code Ann., Lab. & Empl. § 3-505, which requires the payment of earned wages upon separation from employment.
3. Breaches of contractual agreements regarding compensation, scheduled raises, and employment classification. Under Maryland law, when an employer fails to uphold the terms of an employment contract, it constitutes a material breach of contract (See Shenker v. Laureate Educ., Inc., 411 Md. 317, 983 A.2d 408 (2009)).
4. Failure to adhere to industry standards in managing the Defendant's employment and related benefits. Plaintiff's mismanagement of these benefits, including withholding time off and accrued wages, violates FMLA protections and Maryland employment law.
5. Unilateral change in the Defendant's employment status from salaried exempt to salaried non-exempt following intermittent FMLA leave. Plaintiff initially acted in accordance with Section I of the employment agreement, but the subsequent placement of Defendant into a nameless role effectively severed the agreement's Section I. This placement retroactively removed the Defendant's authority, as Plaintiff admitted that the position:

- 5.1 Lacked hiring/firing authority,
- 5.2 Denied autonomy in decision-making,
- 5.3 Excluded technical work, and
- 5.4 Eliminated influence over employee management.

43 These factors retroactively changed the Defendant's exemption classification under both Maryland law and FLSA (29 U.S.C. § 213(a)(1)), thereby severing Section I of the employment agreement and modifying the Defendant's employment status without compliance with law or the terms of the contract.

RESULTS OF SEVERING SECTION I:

44 Plaintiff no longer holds the legal right to modify the Defendant's employment classification without a formal offer and acceptance under the terms of the contract (See Md. Code Ann., Com. Law § 12-101 et seq. regarding contract modification).

45 Defendant is entitled to overtime compensation for the period starting January 4, 2024, as the Defendant was performing non-exempt, non-technical tasks that were largely advisory in nature. These duties lacked decision-making authority, which entitles the Defendant to overtime compensation under the Fair Labor Standards Act (FLSA), 29 U.S.C. § 207. Maryland's Wage Payment and Collection Law (Md. Code Ann., Lab. & Empl. §§ 3-401 - 3-431) also entitles the Defendant to unpaid overtime wages.

46 Although Section I was severed, the amended terms of compensation and benefits remained intact. Additionally, the Defendant's right to FMLA leave and use of benefits was not affected. Plaintiff's refusal to honor these benefits violates the employment agreement, as the right to payment was never formally revoked or altered.

47 Plaintiff's conduct has created irreparable harm, which cannot be remedied by a monetary judgment at the conclusion of the litigation. The Defendant is already suffering ongoing financial and physical damage. Emotional distress, particularly stemming from the exacerbation of PTSD, presents a further risk of permanent physical harm, as evidenced by the Defendant's condition following the events of June 17th. Additional litigation will be required to address the full scope of damages, which will take years to resolve.

LEGAL ARGUMENT

48 Material Breach of Employment Agreement: The Plaintiff's unilateral change in the Defendant's employment status following FMLA leave constitutes a material breach of the employment agreement. The change from exempt to non-exempt status violated both the employment contract and FLSA standards (See 29 U.S.C. § 213(a)(1)). The Defendant's duties were altered to an advisory role without decision-making power, thereby triggering an entitlement to overtime pay under the FLSA and Maryland's Wage Payment and Collection Law.

49 Breach of Contract & Overtime Compensation: The Fair Labor Standards Act requires employers to pay overtime compensation to employees who perform non-exempt duties (See 29 U.S.C. § 207(a)(1)). The Plaintiff's retroactive reclassification of the Defendant to a role lacking exempt characteristics entitles the Defendant to retroactive overtime pay.

Additionally, Maryland's Wage Payment and Collection Law entitles the Defendant to back wages, including unpaid overtime compensation for non-exempt work.

DENIAL OF FMLA RIGHTS:

50 Plaintiff's refusal to honor the Defendant's right to FMLA leave and the corresponding benefits directly violated FMLA (29 U.S.C. § 2615), which prohibits employers from interfering with or denying an employee's right to protected leave. Furthermore, the refusal to pay for accrued time off violates Maryland law, which requires that earned wages, including accrued benefits, be paid upon separation from employment (See Md. Code Ann., Lab. & Empl. § 3-505).

IRREPARABLE HARM

51 The ongoing financial and emotional distress suffered by the Defendant presents a situation of irreparable harm, particularly due to the exacerbation of PTSD, a recognized disability under the ADA (42 U.S.C. § 12101). Such harm is not adequately remedied by a monetary judgment after the litigation concludes, as the Defendant's mental and physical health will continue to deteriorate during this prolonged process. Therefore, mandatory injunctive relief is necessary to protect the Defendant's immediate financial well-being and physical health (See Winter v. Natural Resources Defense Council, Inc., 555 U.S. 7, 22 (2008)).

VIII IRREPARABLE HARM AND LACK OF ADEQUATE LEGAL REMEDY

52 Defendant is facing irreparable harm that cannot be fully compensated through a monetary award. Specifically:

53 Defendant's business and personal assets are at immediate risk of being lost due to the financial strain caused by the Plaintiff's wrongful actions. The Defendant's business, which represents a lifetime of planning and investment spanning over 15 years, is now on the verge of collapse before it could even launch. The business is built on the groundbreaking Three-Stage Evolution of Technology Model (TSETM), which predicts the maturation of technologies and serves as a baseline to identify when a technology becomes optimal for action and investment. Much like distinguishing Friendster from MySpace and MySpace from Facebook, TSETM identifies when a technology is poised to become mainstream and when it reaches the point where investment and strategic action will yield the highest return.

54 The TSETM model successfully predicted the maturation of natural language processing (NLP) technologies, such as GPT models, which achieved mainstream adoption by March 2023. Defendant's business was positioned to leverage this technology, with a planned launch in 2024, as the ideal time to revolutionize industries and reshape business, social, and economic balances. The business would serve as a vehicle to drive global-scale impact, with the potential to positively influence billions of lives through its innovative application of AI-driven solutions.

55 The Defendant's novel strategy, built on the predictive capabilities of the TSETM model, was poised to revolutionize industries by capturing the optimal timing for investment in emerging technologies. Plaintiff's wrongful conduct has irreparably destroyed this opportunity, as the Defendant can no longer launch the business at the precise moment the technology has matured, according to the TSETM model. The Plaintiff's bad faith actions have blocked the Defendant from executing this strategy, preventing the business from achieving its intended global impact.

56 Defendant's mental and emotional well-being has also been severely affected by the Plaintiff's wrongful conduct, including wrongful suspension, termination, and defamatory public records. The emotional distress has exacerbated the Defendant's Post-Traumatic Stress Disorder (PTSD), a condition that has caused physical changes to the Defendant's brain. This has significantly diminished the Defendant's cognitive abilities, making it impossible to implement the business's strategic vision or execute the TSETM model effectively.

57 The Plaintiff's bad faith litigation strategy, including the filing of a fraudulent lawsuit, has caused immediate and irreparable harm to the Defendant's financial and professional future. The Defendant has lost investors and business partners, who have now evaded communications upon learning of the lawsuit. This lawsuit portrays the Defendant in a dishonest and defamatory light, contradicting the Defendant's professional reputation and severely damaging business opportunities.

58 The Defendant's business opportunities have been destroyed, along with 15 years of planning and investment. The Plaintiff's fraudulent lawsuit, filed with malicious intent, has permanently disrupted the launch of the business based on the TSETM model, which would have revolutionized industries and driven global impact. This harm is irreversible, as the unique timing for capitalizing on the NLP/AI wave has been missed.

59 No adequate legal remedy exists to fully address the harm caused. While monetary damages may eventually be awarded, they cannot mitigate the immediate and ongoing financial and emotional damage the Defendant faces. The destruction of the Defendant's professional future and the loss of a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity to revolutionize industries through the TSETM model cannot be undone through monetary compensation alone.

60 Reputational harm is recognized as a form of irreparable harm under Maryland law, as it is damage that cannot be easily quantified or rectified through monetary compensation (See Stuart Circle Partnership v. Bd. of Zoning Appeals, 233 Md. 420, 196 A.2d 682 (1964)). The destruction of Defendant's reputation, carefully built over 15 years, cannot be adequately compensated by a financial award.

61 15 years of personal investment—including time, energy, and financial resources—have been lost due to the Plaintiff's actions. Business partners and investors who were once excited to work with the Defendant have now withdrawn their support, likely after learning of the lawsuit, which portrays the Defendant in a dishonest and defamatory manner. The harm caused by the Plaintiff's public defamation has destroyed critical business opportunities that cannot be restored with a financial remedy alone.

62 Maryland courts have consistently recognized that the harm caused by the loss of business reputation and defamation is often irreparable, as it permanently affects an individual's professional standing and future earning capacity. (See MCS Services, Inc. v. Jones, 152 Md. App. 53, 828 A.2d 486 (2003)). In this case, the Plaintiff's defamatory portrayal of the Defendant on public record has permanently damaged the Defendant's professional reputation, which was integral to the launch and success of the TSETM model and the associated business.

A Legal Argument

63 The TSETM model served as the foundation of a groundbreaking business strategy that capitalized on the rise of natural language processing (NLP) technologies. By using TSETM, the Defendant was able to predict the optimal timing for business and investment in emerging technologies, and the business was poised to succeed based on these precise predictions. Plaintiff's actions have irreparably destroyed this opportunity, permanently blocking the Defendant's ability to launch the business at the critical juncture identified by the TSETM model.

64 The balance of equities weighs heavily in favor of the Defendant. The harm faced by the Defendant is both immediate and severe, involving not just financial collapse but permanent damage to the Defendant's business reputation and personal well-being. By contrast, the Plaintiff stands to lose little more than the obligation to comply with their contractual and legal duties.

Ohana Growth Partners LLC, a multi-state franchise operator managing over 80 clubs, is in a far stronger financial position. In fact, the company recently secured millions of dollars in refinancing, which provides them with ample resources to weather any temporary financial inconvenience caused by complying with the Court's order. Meanwhile, the Defendant stands to lose his entire business model, which was poised for launch in early 2024, alongside irreparable personal losses, including damaged credit, missed financial obligations, and the aggravation of mental health conditions, specifically PTSD and catatonia. These conditions have rendered him incapable of managing his business, further compounding the harm already inflicted. (See Stuart Circle Partnership and MCS Services, Inc.).

LACK OF ADEQUATE LEGAL REMEDY

65 Monetary damages will not restore the lost opportunity to capitalize on the NLP/AI wave that the TSETM model predicted. The Defendant's business, built on the novel use of this technology, has been permanently derailed, and no financial award can fully address the loss of business reputation, investors, and opportunities. Maryland law recognizes reputational harm and business collapse as forms of irreparable harm, leaving no adequate legal remedy for the Defendant's situation.

IRREPARABLE HARM

66 The emotional and physical toll inflicted on the Defendant, particularly the exacerbation of PTSD, presents further irreparable harm. Courts have long recognized that emotional distress and its physical manifestations cannot be adequately addressed through a financial award (See Pashby v. Delia, 709 F.3d 307, 329 (4th Cir. 2013), discussing irreparable harm from emotional and physical suffering).

67 Additionally, the Defendant's professional reputation—developed over the course of 15 years—has been severely damaged by the fraudulent lawsuit filed by the Plaintiff. This type of reputational harm is frequently regarded as irreparable under Maryland law and cannot be corrected through post-trial monetary damages alone (See Stuart Circle Partnership and MCS Services, Inc.).

LACK OF ADEQUATE REMEDY AT LAW

68 Under Maryland law, an adequate legal remedy must provide full relief to the injured party. In this case, monetary damages are inadequate because they cannot restore the business relationships and opportunities that have been lost due to the Plaintiff's actions. Furthermore, the emotional harm and its impact on the Defendant's physical health are not remediable through financial compensation (See Winter v. Natural Resources Defense Council, Inc., 555 U.S. 7, 22 (2008)).

ONGOING IRREPARABLE HARM

69 As a result of the Plaintiff's actions, the Defendant faces ongoing, irreparable harm, which includes:

70 Immediate loss of business opportunities: The Plaintiff's conduct has destroyed the Defendant's ability to launch the business based on the TSETM model, resulting in the permanent loss of key business partners and investors. The timing of this launch, as predicted by TSETM, is critical, and the delay caused by the Plaintiff's wrongful actions has irreparably disrupted this window of opportunity.

71 Long-term damage to personal and professional reputation: The Plaintiff's fraudulent lawsuit and defamatory public statements have irreparably damaged the Defendant's professional reputation. The Defendant's standing in the industry, built over 15 years, has been destroyed, and future opportunities have been lost as potential investors and collaborators have distanced themselves due to the lawsuit's defamatory claims.

72 Exacerbation of PTSD: The Defendant's mental health has deteriorated due to the stress of this litigation, exacerbating the Defendant's Post-Traumatic Stress Disorder (PTSD). This worsening condition places the Defendant at risk of further physical harm, particularly since the brain damage associated with PTSD has already significantly impaired the Defendant's cognitive abilities.

73 Given the immediacy of this harm, the Defendant seeks mandatory injunctive relief to halt the Plaintiff's wrongful actions and prevent further damage. Monetary damages are insufficient to address the ongoing harm, as the business opportunities, professional reputation, and physical health of the Defendant have been irreparably harmed.

74 Furthermore, the physical harm caused by the Plaintiff's actions has forever damaged the part of the body essential to the Defendant's career—the brain. Ryan Dillon-Capps, once referred to as “the brain” due to their intellectual capabilities, now suffers from catatonia and severe memory issues, struggling to remember tasks while performing them. The damage to the Defendant's cognitive abilities has rendered the Defendant unable to fully participate in the business they built over 15 years, and this harm is permanent and cannot be compensated by a financial award.

IX LIKELIHOOD OF SUCCESS ON THE MERITS

75 The Defendant has a strong likelihood of success on the merits of this case. Plaintiff's claims lack merit, as the Defendant acted in good faith, adhering to all applicable industry standards and Payment Card Industry Data Security Standards (PCI DSS) requirements. PCI DSS v4.0 mandates that companies comply with strict security standards to protect cardholder data, and the Defendant's compliance with these standards demonstrates the Plaintiff's allegations are unfounded.

76 The Plaintiff has failed to substantiate its allegations and has instead relied on procedural tactics. This includes securing a Temporary Restraining Order (TRO) without notice to the Defendant, thereby denying the Defendant the opportunity to defend against the allegations. The Plaintiff's deliberate delays and failure to resolve the matter through good faith negotiation further show that the Plaintiff is pursuing this case with unclean hands.

77 Evidence of Compliance: The evidence clearly shows that the Defendant made consistent efforts to comply with PCI DSS standards, ensuring that the Plaintiff's business adhered to the required security protocols. The Plaintiff has not produced any concrete evidence showing that the Defendant breached these standards or acted in any way that justified their termination and suspension.

78 Breach of Agreements: The Plaintiff's breach of contractual agreements, including the Defendant's wrongful suspension and denial of benefits, further supports the Defendant's case. The Defendant was wrongfully terminated without just cause, and the Plaintiff's failure to comply with employment agreements shows that they are not acting in good faith.

79 Unclean Hands Doctrine: Under the doctrine of unclean hands, a party cannot seek relief if their own misconduct is at issue. The Plaintiff's failure to follow industry standards, their breach of agreements, and their intentional delays indicate that they are acting with unclean hands in this litigation (See Ademiluyi v. PennyMac Mortgage Investment Trust Holdings I, LLC, 929 F. Supp. 2d 502, 530 (D. Md. 2013), discussing unclean hands in the context of contractual breaches and litigation).

80 Procedural Manipulation: By securing a TRO without the Defendant's input and deliberately delaying the resolution of the case, the Plaintiff has sought to exploit procedural avenues rather than resolve the dispute on the merits. The Plaintiff's conduct in obtaining a TRO without notice violates due process, as it deprived the Defendant of the opportunity to defend their actions at the onset of the litigation (See Fuentes v. Shevin, 407 U.S. 67 (1972), emphasizing due process and the need for fair notice in emergency proceedings).

LEGAL ARGUMENTS

81 The Defendant has a high likelihood of success because the Plaintiff's claims are baseless and lack factual support. The Defendant acted in full compliance with industry standards and legal requirements, as evidenced by the PCI DSS compliance. The Plaintiff's reliance on procedural tactics such as the TRO does not change the fact that their substantive claims are unsubstantiated.

COMPLIANCE WITH PCI DSS

82 Under PCI DSS v4.0, organizations handling cardholder data are required to follow strict guidelines regarding data security, including the least privilege principle, requiring restricted access based on business needs. The Defendant's compliance with these standards, particularly in implementing Requirement 7 (Least Privilege), demonstrates the Defendant acted in accordance with industry norms.

BREACH OF EMPLOYMENT AGREEMENTS

83 The Plaintiff's wrongful suspension and termination of the Defendant without proper cause or compliance with contractual obligations further supports the Defendant's likelihood of success. Maryland law requires employers to comply with employment contracts and provide a reasonable cause for termination (See Md. Code Ann., Lab. & Empl. § 3-501 et seq.). The Plaintiff's failure to meet these standards violates both employment law and contract law.

UNCLEAN HANDS DOCTRINE

84 The Plaintiff's conduct, including procedural manipulation, breach of agreements, and wrongful actions, triggers the doctrine of unclean hands, barring them from seeking relief. Maryland courts have long held that equity cannot be invoked by a party acting in bad faith (See Ademiluyi). By engaging in bad faith litigation and violating industry standards, the Plaintiff undermines their own claims for relief.

PROCEDURAL MISCONDUCT

85 Plaintiff's reliance on the TRO, obtained without notice, further undermines their position. Courts have consistently held that due process requires fair notice and the opportunity to be heard, even in emergency situations (See Fuentes). The Plaintiff's use of procedural misconduct demonstrates their intent to avoid an honest adjudication of the facts.

X BALANCE OF EQUITIES

86 The balance of equities weighs heavily in favor of the Defendant. The harm to the Defendant is immediate and severe, while the harm to the Plaintiff is minimal. The Plaintiff is simply being asked to comply with its existing legal obligations, cease its bad faith conduct, and refrain from further damaging the Defendant's business, personal assets, and professional reputation.

87 Defendant's Harm: If this Court does not grant injunctive relief, the Defendant faces the imminent collapse of a business that has been in development for 15 years. This business, built on the unique TSETM model and designed to capitalize on the timely adoption of NLP technologies, will miss the critical opportunity for launch, leading to the permanent loss of business opportunities and investor confidence. Additionally, the Defendant's personal assets are at risk, and the ongoing emotional distress caused by this litigation has exacerbated the Defendant's PTSD, placing him at risk of further physical harm.

88 Plaintiff's Minimal Harm: By contrast, the Plaintiff is being asked to cease its wrongful actions and comply with the law. The Plaintiff will suffer no significant harm by adhering to its contractual obligations, paying the compensation due to the Defendant, and ceasing its fraudulent and defamatory conduct. In fact, the Plaintiff's refusal to comply with its obligations has only prolonged litigation and increased legal costs for both parties.

Compliance would prevent further irreparable harm to the Defendant without imposing any undue burden on the Plaintiff.

89 Injunctions are equitable remedies, and Maryland courts have long recognized that where one party faces irreparable harm and the other faces minimal inconvenience, the balance of equities favors the party seeking relief (See El Bey v. Moorish Sci. Temple of Am., Inc., 362 Md. 339, 348, 765 A.2d 132, 137 (2001)). In this case, the Defendant has demonstrated that the harm to his business, personal assets, and reputation is severe and irreparable, while the Plaintiff's compliance with its legal obligations imposes no extraordinary burden.

90 Courts weigh the relative harm to each party when considering injunctive relief. Here, the Defendant's harm is not only financial but also includes emotional distress and damage to his physical health, resulting from the exacerbation of PTSD caused by the Plaintiff's bad faith conduct. These factors weigh heavily in favor of granting injunctive relief, as the Plaintiff's refusal to comply with the law will have permanent and devastating consequences for the Defendant's life and business.

91 The irreparable harm to the Defendant, including the permanent damage to his business opportunities, reputation, and mental health, outweighs any inconvenience the Plaintiff may claim from being forced to comply with its legal and contractual obligations.

92 The balance of equities also supports the granting of an injunction because the Plaintiff's refusal to honor its contractual obligations, compounded by its bad faith litigation tactics, has already delayed resolution. The Plaintiff should not be allowed to benefit from such delay, especially where continued delay would irreparably harm the Defendant.

93 As courts have recognized, when a party's own actions create or exacerbate harm to the opposing party, it cannot claim that the balance of equities weighs in its favor (See Smith v. Clark, 291 Md. 175, 433 A.2d 1209 (1981), discussing the equitable maxim that one must come to equity with clean hands).

94 By granting this injunction, the Court will be restoring the status quo, requiring only that the Plaintiff honor its contractual and legal obligations. This does not impose any undue hardship on the Plaintiff and merely ensures that the Defendant is protected from immediate and irreparable harm.

LEGAL ARGUMENTS

95 Balance of Equities in Favor of Defendant: The balance of equities clearly favors the Defendant because the harm to the Defendant is severe and irreparable, whereas the Plaintiff is only being asked to comply with the law. Maryland courts have consistently held that when one party faces significant harm and the other faces minimal inconvenience, the balance of equities favors granting injunctive relief (See El Bey v. Moorish Sci. Temple of Am., Inc., 362 Md. 339, 348, 765 A.2d 132, 137 (2001)).

96 Severe Harm to Defendant: The Defendant faces the immediate loss of a business venture built on 15 years of planning and personal investment. The unique opportunity to capitalize on the TSETM model and leverage emerging NLP technologies has been irreparably damaged by the Plaintiff's wrongful conduct. Additionally, the Defendant's personal assets are at risk, and the continued emotional strain caused by the Plaintiff's litigation strategy has exacerbated the Defendant's PTSD, placing him at risk of further physical harm.

97 Minimal Harm to Plaintiff: The Plaintiff, by contrast, will face no significant harm. The injunction merely requires the Plaintiff to comply with its legal obligations, including paying the compensation owed to the Defendant, adhering to contractual terms, and ceasing the defamatory and fraudulent actions that have caused ongoing harm to the Defendant's business and reputation. Compliance with these obligations imposes no undue burden on the Plaintiff, and it is unjust for the Plaintiff to continue benefitting from its bad faith actions at the Defendant's expense.

98 Plaintiff's Bad Faith and Unclean Hands: The Plaintiff's bad faith conduct in wrongfully suspending the Defendant, withholding compensation, and engaging in defamatory litigation tactics further tilts the balance of equities in favor of the Defendant. Under the doctrine of unclean hands, the Plaintiff should not be allowed to benefit from its misconduct or seek to avoid injunctive relief when it is responsible for the harm (See Smith v. Clark, 291 Md. 175, 433 A.2d 1209 (1981)).

99 Restoring the Status Quo: By granting this injunction, the Court will be restoring the status quo—requiring only that the Plaintiff adhere to its existing obligations. Maryland courts often prioritize restoring the status quo when considering injunctive relief, particularly where one party is at risk of irreparable harm (See Dep't of Transp. v. Armacost, 299 Md. 392, 474 A.2d 191 (1984)).

XI PUBLIC INTEREST

100 The granting of this motion is in the public interest, as it will ensure that contractual obligations are upheld and that businesses and individuals are not subjected to unfair treatment by corporate entities engaging in bad faith conduct. This case presents a clear instance where the Plaintiff has abused its position by violating contractual terms, wrongfully suspending the Defendant, and pursuing fraudulent litigation. Allowing the Plaintiff's actions to go unchecked would send a message that corporate misconduct can occur without consequence, harming not only the Defendant but also undermining the public trust in the fairness of the judicial system.

101 Courts recognize that protecting parties from bad faith litigation serves the public interest, as it ensures that the legal system is not used as a tool for abuse or delay. Maryland courts have emphasized that the public interest is best served when the integrity of legal agreements is upheld, and when those acting in bad faith are held accountable for their actions (See Md. Envir. Trust v. Gaynor, 370 Md. 89, 103, 803 A.2d 512 (2002), discussing public interest in upholding good faith in contracts).

102 Upholding contractual integrity is essential to maintaining a fair and just business environment. If this Court grants injunctive relief, it will send a clear message that corporate entities cannot escape their legal obligations or harm smaller businesses and individuals through bad faith litigation tactics. Protecting the Defendant from further harm aligns with the broader interest of ensuring that contract law is respected and that individuals are not placed in financial ruin because of unlawful actions by larger, more powerful entities.

103 In this case, the Plaintiff has engaged in repeated breaches of contractual terms, including the wrongful suspension and termination of the Defendant, the withholding of compensation, and the defamatory conduct that has irreparably damaged the Defendant's professional reputation. By granting injunctive relief, the Court would not only be protecting the Defendant but also upholding the fundamental principles of contract law and ensuring that businesses and individuals are protected from corporate overreach.

104 Public confidence in the judicial system depends on the assurance that legal agreements will be enforced and that litigation will not be weaponized as a means of financial or personal destruction. In this case, the Plaintiff has used fraudulent claims and defamation to attack the Defendant, and the Defendant's business has been destroyed as a result. The public interest is best served by granting this motion, as it will prevent further abuse and restore justice in the face of clear bad faith conduct.

105 Maryland courts have consistently ruled that the public interest is served when the integrity of contracts is upheld, and when bad faith conduct is deterred. By granting injunctive relief, this Court would be reinforcing the fundamental protections that contract law provides and ensuring that businesses and individuals have a fair opportunity to protect their rights against corporate misconduct (See United Artists Theatre Circuit, Inc. v. Sun Plaza Theatre, Inc., 352 Md. 603, 724 A.2d 631 (1999), emphasizing the importance of upholding contractual obligations in the public interest).

LEGAL ARGUMENT:

PUBLIC INTEREST IN UPHOLDING CONTRACTUAL OBLIGATIONS:

106 The public interest is served when contractual agreements are honored and businesses are protected from bad faith litigation. Maryland law emphasizes the importance of ensuring that contracts are upheld, as these agreements are the foundation of a fair and functioning market. When parties violate contracts through bad faith conduct, it not only harms the individuals involved but also undermines the public's trust in the business environment and the judicial system (See Md. Envir. Trust v. Gaynor, 370 Md. 89, 103, 803 A.2d 512 (2002)).

DETERRING CORPORATE MISCONDUCT:

107 This case highlights the danger of allowing corporate entities to escape accountability for their actions. The Plaintiff, by engaging in fraudulent litigation and defamation, has caused irreparable harm to the Defendant's business and reputation. If the Court does not grant this motion, it would set a dangerous precedent, signaling that corporate misconduct can go unchecked. Granting injunctive relief ensures that corporations are held to the same legal standards as individuals and that they cannot abuse their position to harm others through bad faith conduct.

RESTORING JUSTICE:

108 The public interest is also served by ensuring that justice is restored to those who have been wronged. The Defendant's business, built over 15 years, has been destroyed due to the Plaintiff's actions, and the Defendant faces ongoing financial and reputational harm. Granting injunctive relief would not only protect the Defendant but also affirm the Court's role in preventing corporate abuse and restoring fairness.

XII PRAYER FOR RELIEF

WHEREFORE, Defendant, Ryan Dillon-Capps, respectfully requests that this Honorable Court grant mandatory injunctive relief, ordering Plaintiff Ohana Growth Partners, LLC to restore the status quo in full, without regard to any argument or explanation made in opposition. Specifically, the Defendant requests that this Court:

1. Restore all financial compensation, bonuses, benefits, and terms of payment in accordance with previously established schedules and budgets, and retroactively restore all amounts due to the Defendant covering all compensation, bonuses, and benefits that were withheld or unpaid during the relevant period starting on June 13, 2024.
2. Continue to maintain the status quo, by providing the same compensation, benefits, and treatment that would be afforded to any other employee, department head, or executive of the company, thereby preventing further disenfranchisement of the Defendant from the date of this Order and throughout the pendency of the litigation between Ohana Growth Partners, LLC and Ryan Dillon-Capps, unless otherwise modified by this Court.
3. Find that the Defendant has demonstrated irreparable harm, as the failure to restore pay would result in imminent financial hardship, including potential default and significant harm to the Defendant's ability to meet basic financial obligations.
4. Determine that this mandatory injunction is necessary to maintain the status quo and prevent irreparable harm to the Defendant during the pendency of this litigation, as monetary damages awarded after the conclusion of the case would not adequately remedy the Defendant's urgent financial situation.
5. Direct the Plaintiff to pay all amounts due to Defendant retroactively, covering the period during which payouts, bonuses, and compensation were withheld or unpaid, and ensure these payments are made within three (3) days from the issuance of this Order.

6. Retain jurisdiction to address any further requests for relief and adjustments to the terms of this Order as may be necessary to ensure fairness and equity during the course of this litigation.
7. Retain jurisdiction to address any further requests for relief, adjustments to the terms of this Order, or any additional legal actions arising from the facts of this case, ensuring that all future issues are RESERVED and PRESERVED for future adjudication as necessary.
8. Schedule the urgent hearing for the first available time on following day.
9. Review and rule on Defendant's Motion In Limine to Exclude Claims, Statements, and Affirmations Not Supported by Evidence.
10. Review and rule on Defendant's Motion for Early Discovery.
11. Review and rule on Defendant's Motion for Expedited Discovery.
12. Review and rule on Defendant's Motion to Compel Production to Support Claims at Hearing.
13. Grant such other and further relief as this Court deems just and proper, ensuring that the hearing process proceeds efficiently, and that the Defendant is protected from prejudice caused by unsupported or speculative claims.

-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------

MOTION TO ALLOW PRO SE REPRESENTATION OF LLC

1 COMES NOW, the Defendant, Ryan Dillon-Capps, individually and as the managing member of MXT3, LLC, and respectfully requests that this Honorable Court allow the Defendant to represent MXT3, LLC, Pro Se, without the need to retain legal counsel, pursuant to the following:

I PRO SE NOT NO SAY

2 In the landmark case of Kearns v. Ford Motor Company, inventor Robert Kearns successfully argued that while the individual components of his invention—the intermittent windshield wiper—were not new, it was his unique combination of those components that constituted a distinct and innovative product. Kearns, representing himself Pro Se, took on major automakers and prevailed, demonstrating that even without formal legal representation, an individual can vindicate their rights in complex, high-stakes litigation.

3 Similarly, in a related unfiled case, I intend to bring forth claims that involve both myself and MXT3, LLC—which I solely own and manage—against the same parties, Ohana Growth Partners, LLC, and Miles & Stockbridge, PC. The intertwined claims between myself and MXT3, LLC stem from the harm these parties have caused to both me personally and the business. This harm is concrete and particularized, directly impacting both myself and MXT3, LLC, as established in prior proceedings.

4 Given the deep integration of my personal work and business—particularly in the development of artificial intelligence (AI) solutions—the case revolves around contributions that cannot be separated from MXT3, LLC. I manage all aspects of the business, and forcing MXT3, LLC to retain separate legal counsel would not only impose an undue financial burden but also complicate the litigation unnecessarily.

5 The harm caused by the opposing parties has been well-documented in prior litigation, affecting both MXT3, LLC and me personally. The complexity of the case has led even experienced litigators to miss key issues, including FMLA violations and misrepresentations that undercut the basis for the relief sought.

6 Throughout July, I faced significant challenges in accessing court records and ensuring my filings were properly considered. My Motion to Reconsider Continuance was submitted multiple times between July 1 and July 8, but it was ruled on prematurely on July 5 and only entered into the court record on July 12.

7 On July 8, I filed a Notice of Filing to consolidate several motions, including the Motion to Reconsider Denial of Continuance, Motion for Extension of Time, and Motion to Strike Referenced Evidence, including Exhibit B from Richard Hartman's affidavit. Despite my attempts to present these motions together, none were ruled on simultaneously. Additionally, the amended Motion to Strike Referenced Evidence v2, filed on July 20, was not considered alongside the original.

8 My attempts to vacate both the TRO and Show Cause were rejected as "omnibus" filings. Despite previous efforts to consolidate related motions, they were not reviewed together. Miles & Stockbridge tried to explain away their losses by referencing AI, or perhaps due to a misguided understanding of the legal standing of the technology.

9 The legal AI models that I developed far surpass current commercial models in every way. Despite Miles & Stockbridge listing technology clients, perhaps one of my models could help them avoid filing affidavits that undermine their own claims for relief. I created a new model specifically designed to identify anomalies in legal proceedings, and I was initially shocked when the model, trained on Judge DeSimone's rulings, consistently ruled in favor of the TRO. I was equally shocked and relieved to discover that the process server had a copy of the packet with the unsigned and stamped order. Technology has a way of exposing the actions of those who seek to do wrong, but it also has the power to prevent, reduce, and undo harm—just as DNA testing has done in exonerating the wrongly convicted.

10 The model also revealed that Miles & Stockbridge's litigation style, rooted in a mid-19th-century approach that remained dominant until after the OJ Simpson trial, relies heavily on a "match-to-match" process. This method involves a judge reviewing a claim and confirming its validity based on narrow phrasing without considering the larger context. For example, when there is no opposition to provide the context of "Your Honor, here are 20 more words on that same page," the AI model—trained on these older styles—missed key elements like the FMLA violation. It incorrectly interpreted the suspension email as refusal, transforming what was an ambiguous but compliant response in the FMLA cease-and-desist letter into something viewed negatively. The reinforcement of this misinterpretation across smaller sections of the case further skewed the outcome. However, when I used a model trained on a judge educated after the OJ Simpson trial, who adopted a more holistic litigation style, it caught the error almost every time.

11 These models, trained on the work of attorneys and judges, were initially intended to test different litigation styles. For instance, the late Justice Ginsburg built her legacy through a vast body of litigation that occurred over a series of strategic legal battles. AI has the potential to assist in this evolution of the law, but current products are focused on solving the wrong problems. Judicial discretion is a vital part of our system, and the law should evolve through considered opinions, not avoidable mistakes. An AI model that catches premature requests for default, spots FMLA violations, and identifies key admissions benefits everyone—by preventing costly errors and ensuring that the focus remains on substantive issues. Such tools could help future clients by streamlining the collection, organization, and presentation of their cases to law firms, saving time and money for both sides and improving the efficiency and quality of litigation.

12 12. The Show Cause was withdrawn at the same time my motions, detailed in the Notice of Filing, were being denied. As I was filing the motion to vacate, the withdrawal successfully avoided review by being ruled moot, despite Davit Levell's affidavit exposing false claims that supported the request for injunctive relief.

13 13. This case is the opposite of moot, as it centers on injunctive relief, not a contract dispute. While the Plaintiff has shifted focus, their own expert, Davit Levell, confirmed that there was no need for injunctive relief. Levell informed the court:

14 He worked with another admin.

15 That admin had access to global administrator accounts.

16 14. Additionally, the affidavits from Justin Drummond and Richard Hartman would only be considered mistakes if not for the following facts:

17 Both used the Help Desk, which had administrator access, to resolve Hartman's account issue before the June 26 hearing.

18 Hartman placed another employee with the same admin-level access on paid leave.

19 Drummond accepted a written offer for access but evaded compliance before instructing Hartman to send an email.

20 Drummond made no mention of a suspension during hours-long communications.

21 Drummond received updates confirming no refusal.

22 Hartman misinterpreted a webpage, falsely claiming it said the opposite.

23 Hartman, the admin of Paycom, tried to reverse actions to hide records, which amounts to spoliation.

24 Billing Administrator access was removed from LeeAnn Hartman due to her non-technical role, while others, like Glenn Norris and Justin Drummond, retained their roles.

25 These facts, confirmed by Davit Levell, demonstrate that this case is far from moot. My ability to represent both myself and MXT3, LLC is crucial to ensuring these details are fully addressed and presented properly.

26 Representing myself Pro Se simplifies the process, as I am directly involved with every detail of the case. Even in a complex case where technology and legal nuances intersect. These my direct connection to the technology, facts, and personal in-depth legal knowledge will be to the benefit of everyone. I cannot promise to give the court brevity and my arguments may be as complex as the case, but at least this time the Plaintiff won't be coming with the intend to abuse the judicial system with no regard for what it represents to the residence, county, state, and nation.

27 The delays in this case are not due to my filings but to the misinterpretation of facts that could have been avoided. For instance, Didn't address an obvious FMLA violation, where, in the same set of filing, they simultaneously accused me of refusal while admitting to violating FMLA. I can ensure that such contradictions are clearly presented to the court, preventing a false narrative from taking hold. The motions I filed, such as the Notice of Filing, were intentionally structured to tie these facts together, ensuring the court sees the full picture at once.

28 My filings are designed to address the harm caused by Miles & Stockbridge and Ohana Growth Partners—specifically, harm to my credit, finances, and the business operations of MXT3, LLC. Their actions have put both me and the LLC in the jaws of financial default, and we cannot afford legal counsel. My direct involvement, allows me to present the facts effectively and efficiently, avoiding missteps that could prolong litigation. The case is clearer when viewed with all relevant facts aligned, reducing the court's workload and making it easier to reach the right conclusion based on all the available evidence.

29 The goal has never been to prolong legal battles, but to resolve matters efficiently. I sought to avoid additional litigation by brokering agreements that would protect individuals like Darren Koritzka, Ann Pinera, and Cielo IT from retaliation. The relief I requested wasn't for personal financial gain—it was simply to ensure that I wasn't held liable for the wrongdoing of others.

30 Now, however, my credit has gone form at risk to incurring harm, my business has lost meetings with investors, and litigation is my only remaining option. My aim is not to burden the court or the parties with unnecessary costs. I believe that judicial resources should be spent where they can make a meaningful difference, helping other victims whose cases are often dismissed as “unbelievable.”

31 I am intimately familiar with the intricate details of this case. An attorney unfamiliar with these specifics may overlook crucial elements, leading to further delays and complications. By representing both myself and MXT3, LLC, I can ensure that the full scope of this case is presented clearly and effectively.

32 Like Robert Kearns' connection to his invention, my personal and business interests are inseparable from one another. MXT3, LLC is the vehicle for my innovative contributions to AI, and it is impossible to disentangle my work from the entity itself. This closely mirrors the principle established in Kearns' case, where an individual defended their innovation against well-resourced corporate entities without formal legal representation.

33 Forcing MXT3, LLC to retain counsel in this unfiled but imminent case would not only delay the proceedings but also unfairly burden the business financially, preventing the case from moving forward in a timely manner. Judicial efficiency would be compromised by requiring separate representation for claims that are deeply intertwined between myself and the LLC.

34 In light of these circumstances, I respectfully request that this Honorable Court grant permission for me to represent both myself and MXT3, LLC, Pro Se, in this related unfiled case involving the same parties. This is necessary to avoid undue hardship, and ensure the principle of fairness and judicial efficiency, allowing the case to proceed without unnecessary complexity.

II STATUS OF DEFENDANT AND LLC

35 The Defendant, Ryan Dillon-Capps, is the sole owner and managing member of MXT3, LLC, and, as such, has full control over the operations and decision-making for the LLC. The Defendant is solely responsible for overseeing the strategic and day-to-day functions of the business, which is integrally tied to the development of artificial intelligence (AI) solutions that form the core of this litigation.

36 The Defendant is financially unable to afford legal counsel for the LLC and is currently representing himself in this litigation as Pro Se. Given the intertwined nature of the claims involving both the Defendant and MXT3, LLC, requiring separate counsel for the LLC would impose an undue financial burden, creating an obstacle to justice and denying the Defendant a fair opportunity to defend both personal and business interests.

37 Maryland Rule 3-513 allows business owners or corporate officers to appear in small claims court without a lawyer. While this rule typically applies to lower courts, the intent behind the rule is to reduce the cost of legal representation where possible and to ensure that access to justice is not blocked by financial constraints. The principle underlying this rule—ensuring fairness and affordability in legal proceedings—should similarly apply to this case, especially where the business owner and the business itself are inseparably linked, as they are here.

38 Maryland Rule 1-201 mandates that all rules of procedure be construed to "secure simplicity in procedure, fairness in administration, and the elimination of unjustifiable expense and delay." This principle directly aligns with the argument that allowing the Defendant to represent both himself and MXT3, LLC, Pro Se, will prevent unnecessary costs and delays.

Requiring separate counsel would only complicate the matter and create procedural inefficiency.

39 Case Law Support: In Walker v. American Ass'n of Professional Eye Care Specialists, Inc., 735 A.2d 188 (Md. Ct. Spec. App. 1999), the court emphasized that procedural rules should be applied to avoid unnecessary delay and costs. Forcing MXT3, LLC to hire counsel in this case would result in inefficiency and undue financial burden, particularly given the interconnected claims against both the LLC and the Defendant personally.

40 If the case proceeds to trial, the technological complexity related to AI and other advanced issues will become central. You, as the person who has invested 15 years into developing the business and its AI-related projects, are the best-suited individual to explain these issues. Retaining a lawyer who lacks your technical expertise would increase costs, lengthen the litigation, and create confusion.

1 Business and Technology Case Management Program under Maryland Rule 16-208 recognizes the importance of specialized handling of complex business cases. While this rule applies to technology cases, it supports your argument that, given your personal and business involvement with the AI-related issues, you are the most competent individual to represent the LLC in these matters without the need for external counsel.

III NATURE OF THE CASE

42 The claims in this case arise from the actions of Ohana Growth Partners, LLC and Miles & Stockbridge, PC, which have caused direct harm to both myself and MXT3, LLC.

These claims are centered around the technological development of artificial intelligence (AI) solutions that I, as the sole owner and managing member, created and developed through MXT3, LLC. Given the intertwined nature of the claims, it is in the interest of judicial efficiency and fairness to allow me to represent both myself and the LLC Pro Se.

43 Splitting this litigation into separate lawsuits—one for me personally and one for MXT3, LLC—would unnecessarily complicate the proceedings. The claims of financial hardship, loss of financing, and business opportunities are a direct result of the Plaintiff's actions, and addressing these issues in separate lawsuits would more than double the time and cost involved. Kearns v. Ford Motor Company demonstrates that separating an individual from their business, particularly when they are intimately tied to the creation of the product or innovation at issue, is inefficient and unjust. Just as Kearns was able to represent himself against a large corporation due to his deep knowledge of his invention, I am uniquely positioned to represent MXT3, LLC because of my personal involvement in the business and its technological developments.

44 MXT3, LLC is currently experiencing significant financial hardship, which has resulted in the loss of financing and business opportunities. The Plaintiff's actions have exacerbated these financial challenges, making it impossible for the LLC to retain separate legal counsel. The Affidavit of Financial Urgency, as detailed in the Affidavit of Crayons (pages 64-81), outlines these financial struggles. Furthermore, the Request to Reconsider Enforcement of the Administrative Judge Ruling Entered on October 11, 2024, provides additional information regarding the defaulting status of my personal and business finances.

45 In U.S. v. High Country Broadcasting Co., Inc., 3 F.3d 1244 (9th Cir. 1993), the court held that corporations must generally be represented by attorneys. However, the financial hardship faced by MXT3, LLC and the interconnected claims involving myself personally make this case an exception. Forcing MXT3, LLC to retain counsel would impose an undue burden on the business and cause significant delays, which would be contrary to the principles of judicial efficiency.

46 Similarly, in Tinkoff v. United States, 86 F.2d 868 (7th Cir. 1936), the court affirmed that only attorneys could represent corporations, but when I read the opinion, I believe it came from a desire a fair judicial process where neither part is hindered unfairly, and the assumption made is that Pro Se would be unfairly hindered or hinder the proceedings. I may have been the one hindered in more ways the one, but to the intertwined nature of the claims in my case, involving both myself and MXT3, LLC, the hinderance would come from denying this request and this presents a compelling reason for allowing Pro Se representation. Judicial efficiency, fairness, and the avoidance of duplicative litigation are key concerns here, and the unique circumstances of my case warrant an exception to the general rule.

47 Maryland courts have established specialized Business and Technology Courts under Md. Rule 16-208 to handle complex technological and business disputes. While the AI-related issues in this case may seem complex, these courts are specifically designed to handle such matters efficiently. Moreover, because both the claims against me and MXT3, LLC are based on the same set of facts and legal questions, splitting the litigation would create unnecessary complexity. Allowing me to represent both myself and MXT3, LLC would not only streamline the process but also align with the judicial efficiency goals of Maryland's Business and Technology Courts.

48 Maryland Rule 3-513 permits non-attorneys to represent LLCs in small claims court, reflecting a broader principle that businesses should not be forced to retain counsel when it is unnecessary. While this is not a small claims case, the simplicity of the issues, intertwined nature of the claims, and financial hardship make the same principle applicable here. The spirit of this rule is to reduce costs and allow businesses like MXT3, LLC to efficiently resolve disputes without being burdened by legal representation when it is not needed.

49 The case of In Re Marriage of Ames, 166 Wash. 2d 255 (2009), recognizes that Pro Se representation is permitted when no significant prejudice would result to the other party. While Ames involved family law, the same logic applies in civil litigation where the complexity is not going to hinder proceedings and one party is financially unable to retain counsel. Allowing me to represent both myself and MXT3, LLC would not prejudice the Plaintiff, as the issues are straightforward, and I am fully capable of presenting the case.

50 In Hawkins v. District Court, 67 P.3d 755 (Colo. 2003), the court allowed non-attorney representation for businesses in small claims courts, reinforcing the principle that business owners can represent their businesses where feasible. Although this case concerned small claims court, it highlights that capacity and competence are the key factors in determining whether Pro Se representation should be allowed. Given that I am intimately familiar with the technological and financial matters in question, I am fully capable of representing MXT3, LLC, and requiring separate counsel would serve no practical purpose.

51 The three-fold nature of this case—involving complex technology, financial hardship, and intertwined claims—supports the argument that allowing Pro Se representation is both practical and fair. The actions taken by the Plaintiff have already caused financial harm, as shown in the court record, which is shared by both me and MXT3, LLC. By consolidating the representation under a single Pro Se litigant, the Court will save time, money, and resources, which is consistent with the principles outlined in Maryland Rule 1-201. The precedent for allowing Pro Se representation where fairness and judicial efficiency are at risk already exists in prior cases, including Kearns, Tinkoff, and Hawkins.

IV CONCLUSION:

WHEREFORE, the Defendant respectfully requests that this Honorable Court:

Allow the Defendant, Ryan Dillon-Capps, to represent MXT3, LLC, as Pro Se in future litigation.

RESPECTFULLY SUBMITTED

If you have any questions, please don't hesitate to contact us at itcompliance@pfhq.com.

PCI/IT Compliance - As part of the IT Compliance Program, new club builds are required to confirm the ordering and installation of necessary PCI and cybersecurity hardware. Please follow the link below to an online form where you will confirm the orders of these critical components for any scheduled new store opening. You will need to submit this IT Compliance Form before going into pre-sales. You can access the form here.

Wi-Fi – All new club builds are required to install one of the two approved Wi-Fi vendors; Deep Blue and now Cerdant. The number of AP's for a standard 20,000 sq. ft club is minimally 4, but depending on the layout, you may feel the need to add more. Also, as you begin any renovations with the existing clubs that currently have a waivered Wi-Fi solution, you will be required to replace that with either Deep Blue or Cerdant.

In-Club Media – All new club builds (except Mexico and Australia) are required to install ROCKBOT as the in-club media system. The Rockbot order form can be accessed here. The form will request the name of your approved installation vendor* (contact info listed below). PFHQ strongly recommends engaging with one of the two approved vendors to ensure the same standards and configuration are applied across all new stores, ensuring the in-club experience is consistent for our members across the brand.

Pre-Sales Timelines:

- 45 days prior to pre-sales going live you should contact all of the hardware vendors listed above and one of the mandatory Wi-Fi vendors to get all paperwork in order.

(Please Note: while enterprise grade Wi-Fi is not required for pre-sales, the Proper acquisition of hardware and services for your club is.)

- 30 Days prior to pre-sales going live all orders must be completed and installation timelines communicated.
- 14 Days prior to pre-sales all hardware should arrive onsite and be installed prior to going live.

New Club with No Physical Pre-Sales Timeline:

- 90 days prior to a club going live you should contact all of the hardware vendors listed above and one of the mandatory Wi-Fi vendors to get all paperwork in order.
- 60 days prior to a club going live all orders must be completed and installation timelines communicated.
- 30 days prior to a club opening all hardware should be onsite and installed.

The PFHQ Compliance Team actively monitors the status of service and hardware acquisition of all mandatory vendors. The end goal here is protecting our member's data as well as the Planet Fitness brand One Team, One Planet.

Subject: Re: Request for Information Regarding Legal Representation

3 of the emails sent June 6th to 10th Holly Butler's pretense was to be investigating the very fraud that came with a confession in writing. Richard Hartman closed it in retaliation to ... Request for Information Regarding Legal Representation, and echoing the court's chat of fraud and cover-up ... denying reality believing MORE fraud and MORE felonies will resolve this issue.

@Butler, Holly Drumheller In light of recent developments and ongoing concerns about a potentially hostile workplace at Ohana Growth Partners, we are seeking further clarification and information based on your investigation. We have attached screenshots as evidence to support our concerns.

Hostile Workplace IndicatorsPattern of Retaliation:

- Merlowe Henry: I was informed that Merlowe used to report to Bill Flax until an incident in which Bill publicly yelled at her. Despite her protest, she now falls under the development department once again.
 - In 2023, I reached out to other PF Groups to understand their team organization, and most grouped facilities and IT together or reported to the same member of leadership. Given their close collaboration, this organizational structure makes sense.
- Allyson Ratliff: Allyson faced resistance when visiting a new club preparing to open, which was upsetting for both her and Brian Chang. We both responded by making an urgent phone call to Rich to discuss it, and we both had carefully drafted written statements in opposition.

JD...this is picking up steam. Besides this email below from Josh, I received a call from Allyson about an hour ago. Pretty worked up. We don't have to discuss now but maybe early next week about the next steps. I am thinking we may need to pull parties together and rip the band-aid off to clear the air and try and reset relationships.

Subject: Call

Rich,

After yesterday's call, I need some time as I am not really happy with the way things are going. It has been brought to my attention that it is time the Allyson treatment of Brian Chang is addressed. He has taken much abuse from her during our recent builds. To the point he has adjusted his schedule, so he doesn't have to interact with her. If Bill is going to be called out because he is not communicating well and I am going to document this, she needs to be addressed now as well. I am going to have Bill come and speak with you about her treatment of Brian and what he has seen and been told.

I am going to continue to work with Bill and the Ops team about communication like I communicated on the call, but I need some help with her. The reason Brian has not wanted Bill to say anything is because of the treatment Brian will get from her once it is brought to light. I am not trying to start a back and forth here, but Brian really struggles with her.

Now on the personal side. More than 60% of my review was about Ryan and my interactions with him. I have tried having weekly calls to help work with him better, but it is worthless. The continued finger pointing, the insubordination and the refusal to accept responsibility don't work for me. I am open to any help you may be able to provide to help me work better with him. Classes, meditation, anything. Thank you in advance for any help you can provide.

Questions:

- Did your investigation reveal a pattern of retaliation involving gender-based bias?
- Did your investigation reveal a pattern in how these incidents were submitted?
- Are there any potential issues from reassigning Merlowe to work in the same department where a previously reported hostile event occurred?
- Did your investigation reveal any issues in other interactions between Merlowe and the development department?

Intimidation and Hostile Interactions:

- Meeting with Rich Hartman: In the meeting with HR to provide my written statement, Rich began by saying, "Filing false allegations against C-level executives is very serious." After being accused of being unprepared, HR refused to accept my written statement and said they would provide me with a form that they did not bring to the scheduled meeting.
- Retaliation Incident: While at the office, I have had two team members barge into my office and begin yelling at me, one barge into a conference room and begin yelling at me, end another stand up to initiate communication by yelling at me. The latter was Kristen Seller, who interrupted LeeAnn and me as we discussed options for upgrading her workspace. Other incidents included Merlowe Henry with Bill Flax, Shannon Anderson, who reported Josh Beyer to Glenn Norris, and twice with Glenn Norris, who witnessed a former Brick Bodies employee and Josh Gerber yelling. There was no reprimand, formal conversation, or apology. By the end of 2023, Jared was bragging about doing it. The only words I said to Kristen were to the effect of "That is the plan" in a calm response. When I found out days later, I was confused, and it instantly triggered my fawning trauma response.

Team,
There has been a hostile work environment claim filed by Ryan Wagner alleging that over the past 3 years he has been bullied and verbally abused by the four of you. I asked Ryan to get together with me early next week to go over his complaint. I will be reaching out to all of you to get your statements. In order to not escalate the current tensions or environment, I ask that you not discuss this with anyone including Ryan. Should you need to communicate with Ryan going forward, I ask that you keep it on point regarding work and/or business needs and not on this topic until resolved. I do not want to see anything that can be deemed as retaliatory in any way. This includes texts, emails, calls, or conversations discussing this issue. We will work to get to the bottom of this in a professional manner and resolve this amicably. Thank you and if you have any questions, please call me.

Questions:

- Are there any legal issues in notifying Josh Gerber and Josh Beyer minutes after receiving the complaint?
- Did your investigation find evidence of a hostile work environment as defined in Harris v. Forklift Systems, Inc., 510 U.S. 17 (1993)?
- Were there patterns of intimidation and hostile interactions discovered in your investigation, and if so, were they adequately addressed?
- Are there any issues from years of similar incidents involving the same people?
- Are there additional issues from the head of HR and senior executives being aware of these issues? Was there an adequate response?

Misleading Information and Documentation:

- Rich Hartman's Actions: Rich wrote an email leading to my PIP based on misleading information. When I reported a formal HR complaint, Rich immediately notified Josh Gerber and Josh Beyer and falsely stated I had reported Glenn Norris and Justin Drummond.

Questions:

- Did your investigation reveal instances of misleading information being used to justify other disciplinary actions, such as PIPs?
- How were these instances handled, and were there any measures to prevent similar occurrences?

Terminations Related to Email Threads:

- Berry Tiedeman and Kim Kaszubski: Both were discussed in the same email thread and have since been let go.

Rich, thank you. Does it matter which one is used? Matt, have you done this with Kim? Please update me on the Kim situation.

Questions:

- Did your investigation find any connection between the email threads and the terminations of Barry Tiedeman or Kim Kaszubski?
- Were their terminations consistent with company policy and free from any retaliatory motives?

We appreciate your prompt attention to these matters. Please provide detailed responses to the questions above and any additional information that might aid in understanding and addressing these concerns.

@Butler, Holly Drumheller In light of recent developments and ongoing concerns about a potentially hostile workplace at San Bruno, we seek further clarification and information based on your investigation. We have attached screenshots as evidence to support our concerns. This information was uncovered during the preliminary portions of the inquiry, which prompted my request for a third-party investigator.

Hostile Workplace Indicators

The email I sent on December 21, 2023, highlighted that Jared Flax was allegedly spreading misinformation at lower levels of the organization. This should prompt an investigation into reports of a hostile workplace. Several key points and incidents require your attention:

1. Sara Wolz: Sara left the organization and told Victor that her departure was due to issues with Rich.
2. Andriy Fenwick: Left because he was not permitted to be in the same room as his child while working, despite exceptions being made for female employees.
3. Allison Ratliff: Was chastised by the development team for visiting a new, unopened club in 2023, not a unique experience for her. Her male counterparts have not faced similar reprimands.
4. Barry Tiedeman: Left shortly after reporting missing emails from Karen Debus between May 10, 2023, and May 22, 2023. Barry confronted HR about these emails and was terminated for allegedly yelling at a team member.

It's only him and Karen on that email(it's from Karen), date range is still same, and it has a "work communication" subject. Darren Koritzka IT Coordinator Ohana Growth Partners, LLC office 410-

5. Steven Goodwin: Despite months of deleted emails, we uncovered emails indicating the mention of a form. I was also requested to complete a form for every incident and individual forms for each person involved.

Questions:

- Did your investigation find evidence of constructive discharge for any of these employees, as defined in Beye v. Bureau of National Affairs?
 - Were there any indications of gender discrimination under the Maryland Fair Employment Practices Act?
 - Did your investigation find evidence that the requirement to complete forms for every incident contributed to a hostile work environment, as defined in Harris v. Forklift Systems, Inc., 510 U.S. 17 (1993)?
 - Were there any patterns or inconsistencies in how these form requirements were enforced across different employees that could indicate discriminatory practices under the Maryland Fair Employment Practices Act?
 - Did the investigation reveal if the deleted emails were related to the reported incidents and forms, and if so, what measures were taken to address this issue in compliance with the Maryland Personal Information Protection Act?
 - Have any other legal issues been discovered during your investigation?
6. Instances of Yelling and Intimidation in 2023:
- o Kristen Seller in March 2023: Resulted in Glenn placing me on a PIP based on misleading information provided by Rich.
 - o Jared Flax in July 2023: Despite numerous witnesses, Jared's yelling was stopped by Josh Beyer, but he was never reprimanded. Jared later bragged about the incident to Kristen Seller and Breyana Diggs (at the time Long)

- Bill Flax in July 2023: Misleading information from Bill was countered by Merilow Henry's confirmation that the report was fabricated.

Questions:

- Did your investigation reveal any documentation or records of a hostile work environment as described in Harris v. Forklift Systems, Inc.?
 - Were there any findings related to defamation claims in accordance with Smith v. Danielczyk?

1. If those are the changes you want make the adjustments to the Monday board referencing them to it.
 - a. Bill - If those are the changes you believe create efficiency for the project please be sure to upload in the Monday board and submit to it.
2. If it's you need to have a major conversation because I do not think you have the ability to run this process.
 - a. Jared - You will need to be a conversation about who will be running this process. I have major concerns based on what I heard with this meeting and we cannot afford these inefficiencies.
3. We do not discuss to one what I need to do. There has never been an issue with Antonio. You do not understand him.
 - a. Bill - We need to have a conversation about how things are dictated to one another. I will set the deadline for how things get done and what the terms are for each particular build. If there are things that make the process more efficient you need to present that to me along with why we should be doing things this way.

- Example 2: Josh Beyer, Bill Flax, Steve Campbell, and Jared Flax plan to use the Executive team meeting as a platform for public humiliation.

 - Were there any signs of intentional infliction of emotional distress as outlined in Harris v. Jones?

Questions:

- Did your investigation find any unauthorized access or misuse of information in violation of the Maryland Personal Information Protection Act?
- Were there any findings related to invasion of privacy as seen in Furman v. Sheppard?
- Did your investigation reveal any instances of negligent misrepresentation as described in Martens Chevrolet, Inc. v. Seney?
- Were there any breaches of professional conduct and accountability similar to those in Attorney Grievance Comm'n v. Potter?

Are you aware that Bill Flax is a licensed attorney, and if so, does his involvement in these issues raise any additional legal concerns, such as potential violations of professional conduct standards or ethical obligations as outlined by the Maryland State Bar?

We appreciate your prompt attention to these matters. Please provide detailed responses to the questions above and any additional information that might aid in understanding and addressing these concerns.

Subject: Re: Request for Information Regarding Legal Representation

@Butler, Holly Drumheller In light of your investigation into the San Bruno email threads, we have the following follow-up questions regarding potential legal issues:

1. Misrepresentation and Fraud

Legal Citation:

- Fraud: To establish fraud, a plaintiff must show that (1) the defendant made a false representation; (2) the defendant knew the representation was false or made it recklessly without knowing its truth; (3) the defendant intended to induce the plaintiff to act on the representation; (4) the plaintiff justifiably relied on the representation; and (5) the plaintiff suffered damages as a result. (See Lazar v. Superior Court (1996) 12 Cal.4th 631, 638.)

Case Law Example:

- Lazar v. Superior Court, 12 Cal.4th 631 (1996): The court held that a fraud cause of action could proceed where the plaintiff alleged that the defendant made false representations that induced the plaintiff to act to his detriment.

Questions:

- Did Andrew's actions constitute a false representation under the criteria outlined in Lazar v. Superior Court?
- Was there evidence that Andrew knew his representation was false or acted recklessly?
- Did Andrew's actions induce any party to act to their detriment based on the false representation?

2. DefamationLegal Citation:

- Defamation: Defamation involves the intentional publication of a false statement that has a tendency to harm the plaintiff's reputation. (See Smith v. Maldonado (1999) 72 Cal.App.4th 637, 645.)

Case Law Example:

- Smith v. Maldonado, 72 Cal.App.4th 637 (1999): The court outlined the elements of defamation, emphasizing the need for a false statement that causes harm to the plaintiff's reputation.

Questions:

- Did Andrew publish any false statements regarding Ryan's responsiveness?
- Can it be demonstrated that these statements harmed Ryan's reputation according to the standards set in Smith v. Maldonado?

3. Breach of Duty of Good Faith and Fair DealingLegal Citation:

- Duty of Good Faith and Fair Dealing: Every contract imposes upon each party a duty of good faith and fair dealing in its performance and enforcement. (See Foley v. Interactive Data Corp. (1988) 47 Cal.3d 654, 683.)

Case Law Example:

- Foley v. Interactive Data Corp., 47 Cal.3d 654 (1988): The court discussed the implied covenant of good faith and fair dealing, which prevents one party from unfairly frustrating the other party's right to receive the benefits of the agreement.

Questions:

- Did Andrew's actions breach the duty of good faith and fair dealing as defined in Foley v. Interactive Data Corp.?
- How did Andrew's actions impact the ability of other parties to receive the benefits of the contract?

4. Internal Policy ViolationsQuestions:

- Did Andrew's actions violate any internal company policies regarding honesty and integrity?
- Were there any internal procedures that should have been followed but were not?

5. Potential Employment Law IssuesLegal Citation:

- Hostile Work Environment: A hostile work environment exists when an employee experiences workplace harassment that is pervasive or severe enough to create an abusive working environment. (See Harris v. Forklift Systems, Inc. (1993) 510 U.S. 17, 21.)

Case Law Example:

- Harris v. Forklift Systems, Inc., 510 U.S. 17 (1993): The Supreme Court held that a workplace is hostile if it is permeated with discriminatory intimidation, ridicule, and insult that is sufficiently severe or pervasive to alter the conditions of the victim's employment and create an abusive working environment.

Questions:

- Did Andrew's portrayal of Ryan contribute to a hostile work environment as defined in Harris v. Forklift Systems, Inc.?
- Were there other incidents or behaviors that, when combined with this incident, created an abusive working environment for Ryan?

Conclusion

Given these follow-up questions, please provide additional details and clarification on these points to better understand the legal implications of the San Bruno email threads.

Subject: Re: Request for Information Regarding Legal Representation

Please be advised that I have added Holly Butler and removed Rich Hartman, Karen Debus, Matt Norris, and Glenn Norris from this thread.

Holly Butler claims to have conducted an independent investigation on topics I raised. It is perplexing that the executive who raised these questions has been excluded from receiving any information about the investigation. As the Head of IT, the individual who reported the issue, and the one who insisted on a third-party investigation, I find this situation unacceptable. I believe Holly Butler was hired for matters related to my employment, and the statement that she was hired to conduct an independent investigation on behalf of Ohana Growth Partners concerning the concerns I identified is accurate. This reflects her legal expertise, and I believe her previous errors were based on the information she was provided. On March 28, 2024, Glenn informed me that he had spoken with Holly Butler, who told him that nothing illegal had occurred but agreed to contact another attorney and schedule a meeting with Justin, Glenn, and myself to review the unauthorized use of my name by Andrew Dinh to attest to official compliance documents. While I believe a meeting occurred with Glenn, it never included the three of us.

This email chain represents Ohana Growth Partners LLC ownership. If you were hired for the investigation and it did not include matters related to my employment, then as an executive of Ohana Growth Partners LLC and the Head of IT, I request that you provide us with the following answers:

1. Did you or someone on your behalf ever speak to Glenn about the unauthorized use of my name to attest compliance documents? If yes, what was your conclusion?
2. Did you or someone on your behalf ever contact Geoff VaaMaastricht to validate the compliance document?
3. Did you or someone on your behalf ever contact Geoff VaaMaastricht to validate the email thread?
4. Regarding the unauthorized use of my name to attest compliance documents, what are the findings of the investigation?

If you were hired for matters related to my employment, you are under no obligation to respond at this time. However, this email chain represents the core of Ohana Growth Partners LLC ownership, minus Glenn and Chuck, with Stacey representing the company to which Charles and she work. The only valid reason for not providing answers is if you have withdrawn or been removed and no longer represent Ohana Growth Partners LLC, preventing you from providing legal advice.

Unauthorized Use of My Name to Attest Compliance Documents:

- Attached is a screenshot of the compliance document submitted for Wheaton.
- Another screenshot shows Andrew Dinh asking Geoff VaaMaastricht to confirm receipt.
- At no point did I authorize Andrew Dinh to use my name.

This email is a reminder for you to ensure all new Planet Fitness stores comply with the current PCI and IT Requirements defined by PFHQ. Below are the key areas to focus on that will ensure IT compliance for clubs. The table that follows conveniently lists additional details and vendor contact information for you as well. If you have any questions, please don't hesitate to contact us at itcompliance@pfhq.com.

PCI/IT Compliance - As part of the IT Compliance Program, new club builds are required to confirm the ordering and installation of necessary PCI and cybersecurity hardware. Please follow the link below to where you will confirm the orders of these critical components for any scheduled new store opening. You will need to submit this IT Compliance Form before going into pre-sales. You can access the form by clicking here.

Wi-Fi – All new club builds are required to install one of the two approved Wi-Fi vendors; Deep Blue and now Cerdant. The number of AP's for a standard 20,000 sq. ft club is minimally 4, but depending on the size may feel the need to add more. Also, as you begin any renovations with the existing clubs that currently have a waivered Wi-Fi solution, you will be required to replace that with either Deep Blue or Cerdant.

In-Club Media – All new club builds (except Mexico and Australia) are required to install ROCKBOT as the In-club media system. The Rockbot order form can be accessed here. The form will request the name of the approved installation vendor* (contact info listed below). PFHQ strongly recommends engaging with one of the two approved vendors to ensure the same standards and configuration are applied across all in-club media systems ensuring the in-club experience is consistent for our members across the brand.

It took 12 days to complete something that should take less than 5 minutes, as only Andrew had the dates for ordering and refused to provide them. If there was no other information, a complete investigation should have included validating other fields.

5. Did you ever investigate if the other data on that form was accurate?
6. Did you ever contact Geoff VanMaastricht to obtain copies of other compliance forms from Ohana Growth Partners LLC?
7. If so, did Geoff provide examples where Andrew Dinh had completed them correctly?

What is your official legal opinion on the validity of the following:

Wire Fraud

- Citation: 18 U.S.C. § 1343
- Relevant Text: Submitting false attestations via an online form could fall under wire fraud if it was part of a scheme to defraud or obtain benefits through false representations, transmitted via interstate wire communications.

Identity Theft

- Citation: 18 U.S.C. § 1028A
- Relevant Text: Using another individual's personal identifying information without authorization could constitute identity theft, especially in committing wire fraud.

Unauthorized Access (Computer Fraud)

- Citation: 18 U.S.C. § 1030
- Relevant Text: Unauthorized access to a computer system to submit false information could be considered computer fraud.

Maryland Laws potentially applicable to this case:

- Criminal Law Article, Section 8-606: False statement to an officer or state agency.
- Criminal Law Section 8-601: Forgery of a document, applicable to digital signatures or attestations.
- Section 7-302: Illegal access to a computer or computer network.
- Section 8-301: Prohibits using another person's personal identifying information without consent for fraudulent purposes.

Fabricated/Altered Emails and Documents:

- First Thread:
 - Has anyone contacted San Bruno to obtain a copy of the contract indicated as signed in September 2020?
 - Has there been validation of the email chain sent on September 21, 5:31 PM, following the provision of the contract by Andrew 30 minutes earlier?

The request for a third-party investigator aimed to ensure the validation process was conducted independently. Holly Butler, do you possess the technical background and knowledge to validate these email threads? If not, who did you engage to determine if one or both of these email threads and the attachments were fabricated or altered? What were the findings of the investigation?

Accounting Irregularities:

After reporting irregularities, Andrew Dinh was asked about missing invoices. Many invoices were subsequently processed and paid. However, I am unaware of any steps taken to ensure these irregularities were confined to this period or efforts to verify that every job by Onsite Solutions has an associated invoice.

Can you confirm whether we have accounted for every job with at least one corresponding invoice relative to its cost? Accounting validated the accuracy of this report by processing and paying the invoices provided by Andrew Dinh. Holly Butler, please provide us with the methodology, who performed the audit, and the findings. Did we account for every job that Andrew Dinh/Onsite Solutions has done with invoices relative to its cost?

Subject: Request for Information Regarding Legal Representation

Aloha

I hope this message finds you well. I am writing to formally request information regarding the legal representation retained by Ohana Growth Partners LLC concerning accounting irregularities, the unauthorized use of my name to attest compliance documents, fabricated or altered emails/documents, or any matters related to my employment.

Specifically, I would like to know the name and contact information of the attorneys or law firms representing the company on any of these matters. This information is pertinent as I am seeking to engage in direct negotiations to resolve these issues amicably and efficiently.

I believe that open communication can help us reach a mutually agreeable solution and prevent the need for more formal proceedings. Therefore, I would appreciate your prompt response to this request.

Thank you for your cooperation.

OHANA GROWTH PARTNERS, LLC Plaintiff, vs. RYAN DILLON-CAPPS Defendant.	IN THE CIRCUIT COURT FOR BALTIMORE COUNTY CASE NO: C-03-CV-24-002264
--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------

AFFIDAVIT OF FINANCIAL URGENCY

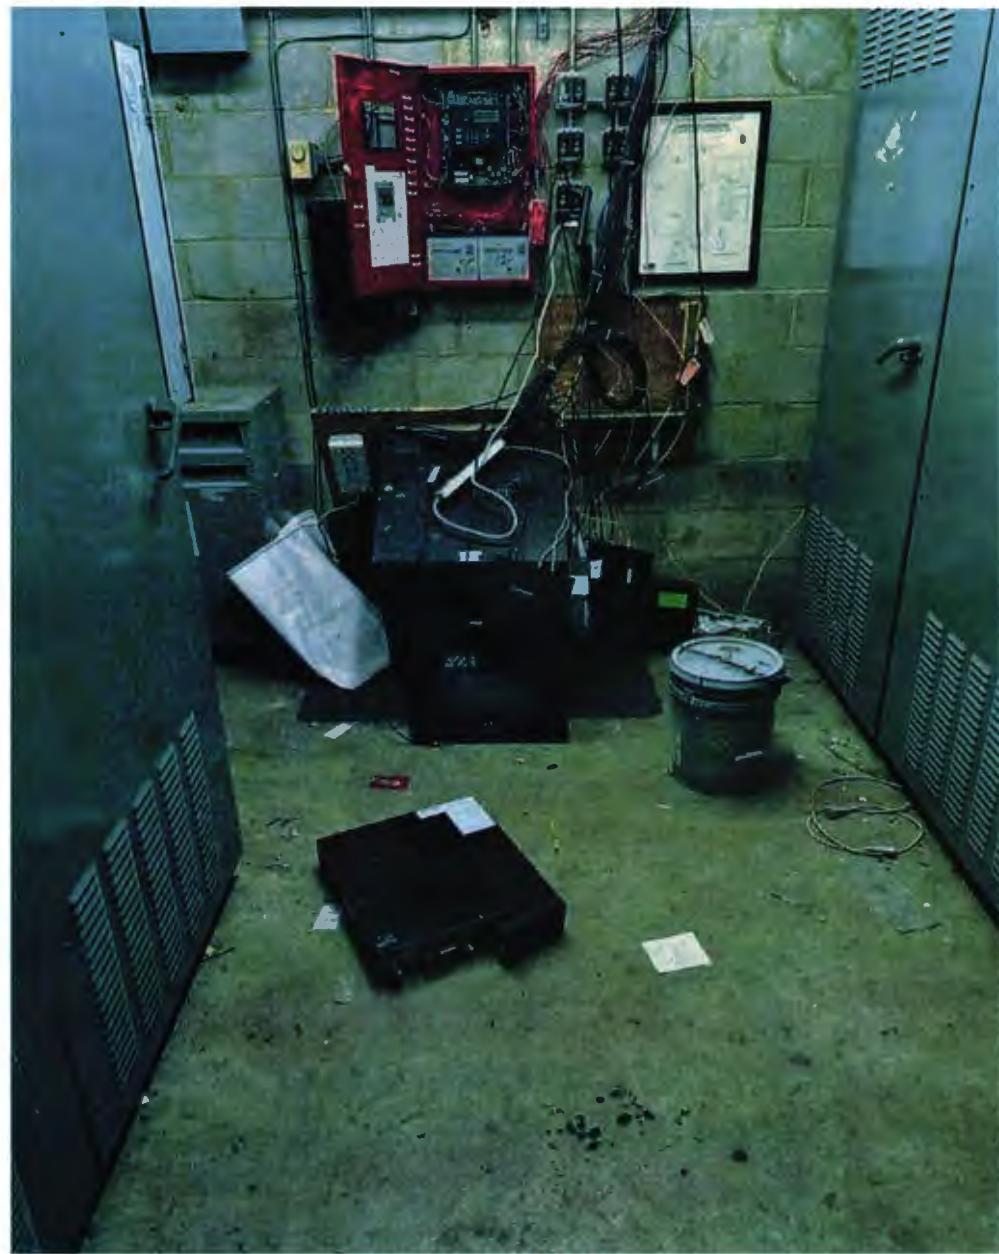

I, Ryan Dillon-Capps, being over the age of eighteen (18) and competent to testify, and having personal knowledge of the facts contained herein, state as follows:

I BACKGROUND ON WHY STANDARDS ARE MANDATED

1 After conducting due diligence reviews across a majority of franchisee-owned clubs, the Franchisor identified a consistent lack of investment in technology by the Franchisees. In response, the Franchisor implemented new standards, which were initially met with resistance from the Franchisee Owners. Compromises were made to ensure the standards were financially feasible. Over time, these standards have been gradually elevated, with active participation from Franchisee Owners in negotiations and discussions. The Franchisor has consistently engaged the Franchisee Owners before committing to each subsequent version of the standards.

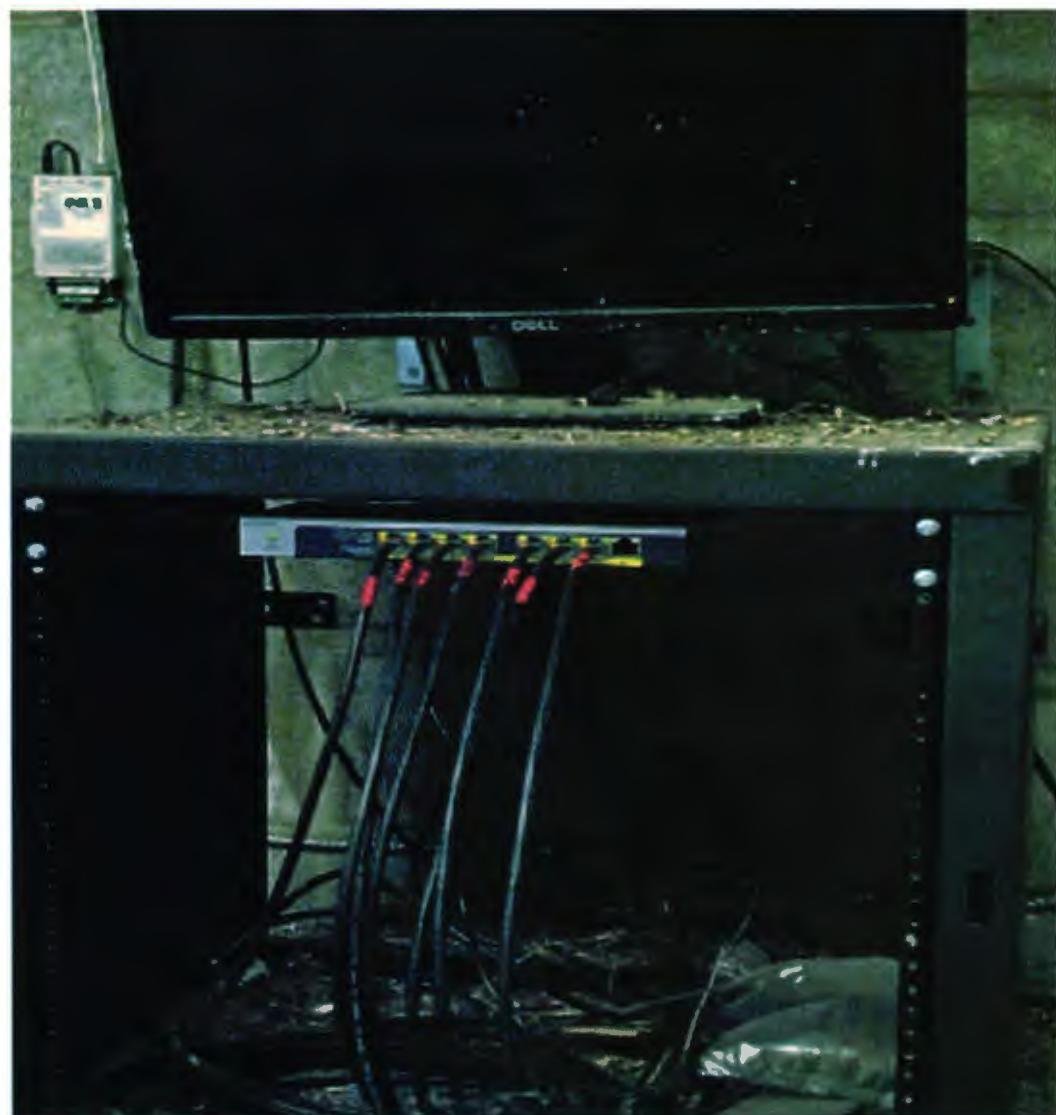

2 It has been suggested as a defense to claims of negligent work that the absence or inadequacy of past standards justified prior practices. Ohana Growth Partners, LLC, embracing its philosophy of WHIM—Whimsical, Humorous, Inspirational, and Motivational—rebranded to emphasize its family-like culture and the belief that culture surpasses strategy. Ohana's commitment is to world-class standards, and this philosophy is reflected in everything they do.

3 Ohana Growth Partners, LLC operates in six states and currently manages over 80 clubs. The conditions shown in these pictures reflect the status quo, not the exception. After four years, I was informed that all racks in every club would finally be installed correctly. After leaving that meeting, I discovered that a rack had fallen off the wall, and the same company responsible for the faulty installation was being paid to redo it. Glenn Norris and Justin Drummond failed to honor their commitments—not due to a lack of funds or ignorance of the situation. This matter is expected to be the subject of future litigation, and I will show the 200+ images demonstrating the quality of work being defended under an exclusive arrangement, which continues to have the full support of Ohana Growth Partners. This work comes from the same company linked to accounting irregularities and a fraud investigation. In addition to the images, we will examine the relentless malicious attacks aimed at damaging the reputations of myself, the IT Department, and Cielo IT.

4 Why Cielo IT? In August 2021, Cielo IT was unexpectedly tasked with managing a build under what can only be described as sabotaged conditions. Additionally, they were expected to perform more than Onsite Solutions, including obtaining permits that had not yet been secured for a project they were joining mid-build—not initiating. This oversight occurred again in subsequent years, with blame again wrongly shifted to Cielo IT until I pressed them on why they didn't have a permit on their remodel that Cielo IT had nothing to do with -- Onsite Solutions was.

5 As predicted, Ohana Growth Partners, LLC believed they had prevailed on September 15, 2024, and, under that false confidence, terminated their contract with Cielo IT. This, too, will be addressed in future litigation, along with the actions they took using access they obtained from Cielo IT, which had administrative rights sufficient to control the account. We know this is true because the Plaintiff submitted an affidavit from Daniel Levett to shift focus away from claims that Hartman Executive Advisors was not involved. To prove that claim was false, they admitted to estoppel and told us that Ohana's claim about no admins and no access was false.

6 The key difference between myself and others before me is that I insisted on documenting every interaction in writing. I knew they relied on controlling the written record to their advantage—changing email threads, altering subject headers, and selectively separating information. All year long, I used their own tactics against them, ensuring that I looped in additional parties on emails to maintain transparency. If something wasn't written down, it essentially never happened—unless it benefited them. If you didn't obtain a copy of an email fast enough, it would disappear. Barry Tiedeman was fired under false pretenses because he saved an email that was later erased, and when he confronted HR about it, he was dismissed.

7 They claimed that Barry was fired for yelling at someone. However, in 2023, another employee interrupted a conversation to begin yelling at me. Later, another person entered my office and shouted at me, and subsequently bragged about it to the first person—without facing any reprimand. Yet, when Barry raised questions about the disappearance of critical evidence, he was fired, with the supposed justification being that yelling in the office was unacceptable

II BACKGROUND ON WHY DILLON-CAPPS IS THEIR EXPERT

8 A month after relocating to Maryland in 2020 for my position with Ohana Growth Partners, LLC (formerly Planet Fitness Growth Partners), the COVID-19 pandemic forced everything to shut down. In response, I prioritized cost-saving measures to preserve as many jobs as possible. By January 2021, Glenn Norris instructed Joshua Beyer and Justin Drummond to work with me on resolving the ongoing compliance failures. By August 2021:

1. I had met with the Franchisor, various vendors, and installers who were familiar with Planet Fitness standards, as well as technical contacts within other franchise groups.

2. I shared my findings with Glenn Norris, Joshua Beyer, Josh Gerber, Justin Drummond, Karen Cepress, and others.

3. The collective team—excluding Glenn Norris—nominated me to lead efforts to rectify past compliance failures, manage multiple projects mandated by the Franchisor, and serve as an expert on the Franchisor's requirements, including PCI compliance. Glenn endorsed their recommendation, and he turned it from a recommendation to an order.

4. I presented a plan to implement these mandated requirements on an extended schedule and personally guaranteed both my commitment and Ohana Growth Partners, LLC's commitment to funding and resourcing these projects.

5. Through a combination of virtual site visits (both in and out of state) and in-person site visits within the state, I concluded that the implementation of IT and entertainment solutions was not only negligent but also dangerous. These conditions posed significant liabilities to the franchisee, franchisor, payment processors, employee safety, member safety, and the overall brand.

6. I provided a less inflammatory version of my findings to everyone except Glenn Norris. Until the end of 2023, Glenn received direct and candid updates on everything. Despite what he may have conveyed to others, he and I shared an almost entirely transparent exchange of information. I emphasize "almost" because I later discovered, following the launch of the fraud investigation in December 2023, that certain things had been withheld from me.

7. I conducted a review of the individuals and companies responsible for the work I observed and found that the worst of it was consistently linked to a company called Onsite Solutions, Inc., which had been given an exclusive arrangement by the Development Department. A small portion of the work had been offloaded to a solo Maryland-based owner and engineer.

8. I proposed that we test one of the two Franchisor-approved installers, allowing them to handle the next few builds for comparison and review.

9 The President of Cielo IT joined me on a phone call with Joshua Beyer, during which Beyer yelled and berated me for the majority of the meeting. After I filed a formal HR complaint in November, Richard Hartman feigned ignorance of the years of reports, reprimands, and annual reviews documenting the inappropriate conduct of Joshua Beyer, William “Bill” Flax, Jared Flax, and Josh Gerber. While this will be a topic for future litigation, it is important to note that Shannon Anderson from Cielo IT was the person who initially reported Joshua Beyer to Glenn Norris.

10 When the HR investigation concluded in March 2024, the only incident they officially acknowledged was the one I deliberately provided to prevent them from closing the case without it being clear that it had not been properly investigated. Despite this, Shannon Anderson—whose report initiated the complaint—was never contacted during the investigation. This omission is telling, as they were already aware of the incident and never intended to conduct a thorough investigation, as has been the case with many other issues in the past.

11 They are remarkably fond of spoilage, as demonstrated by the sudden disappearance of Leeann Hartman’s Billing Administrator role shortly after the lawsuit was filed. Leeann, sister of Lynne Brick and wife of Richard Hartman, quietly had this role removed from her account. I suspect this was an attempt to support their claim of having no other admins and, if necessary, they believed terminating Cielo IT would allow them to cover up access. What they didn't anticipate was that Dante Martinez of Cielo IT, who had been trained by me, knew how to manage the system and access the accounts. I had been preparing him to become a direct hire as Help Desk Manager. I trained him and coached him on how to train the rest of the team. Dante was a quick learner, and I discreetly guided him through a series of thought experiments on how permissions could be used to navigate a system, and how a hacker might exploit this to gain access to a privileged role like Global Administrator.

12 While I may not have had a clear memory of this, or many other details immediately following my mental break, as memories return, I realize how well I had prepared the team. I don't remember exactly when I changed the multi-factor authentication (MFA) settings for the accounts, but I do recall the context—ensuring no one would be locked out while shifting permissions from direct assignments to inheritance. These efforts were part of broader security enhancements aimed at enabling on-demand elevated access. The goal was to eliminate the need for any account to retain a role like Global Administrator, thereby making it significantly more difficult for a compromised account to be misused.

13 By 2023, the IT Department not only survived the malicious actions taken against us but thrived. Once again, I was told that Onsite Solutions was gone for good. This time, all IT and entertainment installation and renovation work would be removed from the Development Department and placed under my control, coinciding with my upcoming promotion. Several months of negotiations regarding my compensation had taken place, and it was understood among the C-suite that the promotion was a done deal. However, not everyone was in agreement. On multiple occasions, Joshua Beyer made it clear to me that, in his view, nothing was final until the formal announcement was made—his comments strongly suggesting an intent to block the promotion by any means necessary.

14 The following screenshot is from the 15-month Q4 analysis and includes one of the oldest tabs. Column B reflects my pre-raise 2023 salary, a product of lengthy negotiations. The final number included KPIs, bonuses, gains, and a reimbursement pool, with a base salary of $507,200.00. This figure did not include the proposed sign-on bonus, where I had suggested $30,000 and Glenn Norris countered with a six-figure amount, to be paid through the bank refinancing deal.

15 Glenn Norris's last words on the matter were: "Okay, but don't tell anyone or show it to anyone yet."

Chief Support Officers (CSO): IT Operations (ITO) Business Intelligence (BI) Facilities, Equipment, Repairs, and Maintenance (FERM)	$ 150,000.00	$ 500,000.00	Base Shown KPI, Bonus*, and Vested Capital Gain Returns not included 30k Sign-on bonus not included
Phone Reimbursement	$ 1,800.00	$ 4,200.00	I had to add international dialing plan to reach support that was on hours for Takoma Park, and I will need to have additional coverage and cost added when I am traveling overseas.
Internet Reimbursement	$ -	$ 3,000.00	I provided internet to Takoma Park, and in addition to a set of full time hours at the office - I also put in as much and more time remotely.
	$ 151,800.00	$ 507,200.00	$ 355,400.00

16 I committed funds based on Glenn Norris's commitment, and conversations with others reaffirmed that they were aware an official announcement was forthcoming. However, shortly after Victor Brick canceled his trip to Maryland, Justin Drummond facilitated Joshua Beyer's trip to Florida to meet with Victor Brick. Following that meeting, Onsite Solutions was rehired, and Glenn Norris began to avoid discussions on the matter, eventually stating he didn't want to talk about it. This shift in direction occurred well after I had already committed dollars, and up until after the wedding, I held hope that once Glenn realized he had been misled and saw me as an ally rather than a threat, the plans would be restored. After all, why wouldn't he follow through with the plan and fully support the person who had spent months helping the company avoid disaster?

III FROM C-SUITE TO POOR HOUSE

17 Six months later, my FMLA and ADA rights were violated, and Darren Koritzka was placed on a leave of absence while I was suspended without pay. Now, both of us have been wrongfully terminated. In a few days, it will mark the four-month anniversary of a fraudulent case that should have been resolved four months ago. Shortly after that, we will reach the one-year anniversary of the accounting irregularities being reported to Glenn. Since then, I have gone from C-Suite to almost D-Block 21 days before my birthday, and now under threat of the poor house.

18 I am providing screenshots from my Credit Karma app, which clearly show that I have a 100% on-time payment history. I paid off my student loans in full, have no defaults, and my car only has $8,000 remaining on its loan. My home has equity, though not enough to provide the funds necessary to salvage this situation. Between breached verbal agreements, no different from written agreements dating back to June 7th, and the lawsuit that has been dragged out, my financial position has been devastated. One credit card reduced my limit due to months of rising debt, a situation exacerbated by having my income stripped away and being forced to litigate a fraudulent lawsuit.

19 This lawsuit, which I have definitively won beyond a reasonable doubt, exceeds the civil standard of proof. Not only did I meet the highest legal standard in U.S. law, but I won so decisively that the evidence initially presented by the Plaintiff has now turned into evidence supporting my case. The Plaintiff no longer has any evidence that remains in their favor. U.S. law doesn't have a term for a 100% victory, but that is what I have achieved—despite fraud, collusion, and a 1932 law firm that somehow convinced multiple circuit court judges to disregard the law and consistently rule in their favor.

20 Tell me about another person in the history of the United States who has won after losing 100% of their filings and being under an order of default. Despite these conditions, I have managed to win over 100% of this case, all while barely being able to remember the days due to my mental state. I've achieved the impossible, yet I might still face financial ruin—not because I failed, but because I succeeded so well that it has made it excessively complicated for anyone to properly rule in my favor. In any other case, a Defendant would likely be thrilled to get it dismissed because the Plaintiff's case was so catastrophically weak.

21 In every single comparable case I've reviewed, the outcome is the same—the defendant loses, and the case gets dismissed. This case, however, is the impossible scenario, raising the question: What if they won? After the initial shock and laughter at the absurdity of such a situation, people would have said, "That will never happen." How could it ever happen?

22 Hooray for me. Attached are screenshots showing my imminent financial ruin, as well as the latest emails regarding my efforts to engage with Miles & Stockbridge and Ohana Growth Partners. I've also included a general email to the court to open negotiations with the seven judges involved, seeking a solution before filing later tonight. The second email to the judges includes a heartfelt cry for help, which I will briefly summarize here.

23 The methods used by my abusers over the past year feel eerily similar to what I'm experiencing now. Logically, I understand that it's unlikely the same, but for anyone with a shred of compassion—please understand—I need someone to contact me today. If disclosure is the worst fear for some, imagine if it occurred automatically in the event of my death, whether from catatonia or my deteriorating mental health. What would the lawsuit look like if my wife is forced to ask why no one reached out for over a month and a half to explain what was happening? This is me making a simple, reasonable ADA request: please don't let your actions appear as Estoppel or Gaslighting of someone with a mental illness who is asking for you to stop.

24 To be clear, I can rationalize why this might be happening. But there remains a strong possibility that multiple judges and a well-established law firm possess enough influence to have conspired together. As a result, I find myself pushed to the brink—unable to act quickly enough to prevent default on myself and my business, all while watching the dream I've spent 15 years building slip away in the blink of an eye.

25 This is not a reasonable set of conditions to place upon me. Therefore, I will present the logic of why inaction cannot continue any longer:

1. If this is part of a broader conspiracy, it must be publicly exposed as soon as possible.
2. If it is not a conspiracy, I still need to raise funds quickly, and the fastest way to secure a significant influx of financial support would be through crowdfunding or similar methods, allowing others to help me address this injustice.

26 Therefore, if the logic behind the silence is to "figure things out," that approach is flawed. Continued silence will only eliminate any remaining time to resolve this matter. It will likely result in my financial situation being addressed overnight, erasing my worst-case fears with a single keystroke. I stand to be the only one benefiting from that, which demonstrates once again that my actions are not driven by malice or anger. I am not anyone's enemy, but I have shown that I am an incredibly capable survivor.

Personal Loan: PA-1278581

Hi Ryan,

We wanted to follow up with you regarding a notice you received from SoFi, letting you know that your Personal Loan lump-sum payment was returned unpaid by your bank.

What happened?

After receiving your payment, your loan was re-amortized; this was before we received notice from your financial institution that your payment was returned.

What does this mean?

This means your loan schedule and new monthly payment amount was re-calculated based on your ultimately returned lump-sum payment. The sum of your returned payment lowered your loan's principal balance, which resulted in a lower monthly payment—which means you are paying less in error.

To avoid leaving an unpaid balance due at the end of your loan's maturity, we conducted a new re-amortization to adjust your payment schedule and increase your monthly payment amount to get you back on track.

Your new payment amount is: $597.69

If you have auto-pay set up for your loan, please be aware this new payment will be automatically deducted each month.

To view your account details and payment information, simply log in to your SoFi account online or directly from our mobile app.

How can I get in touch if I have questions?

We want to be sure you fully understand your new loan schedule. If you have any questions at all, please don't hesitate to contact us using the information below.

Account Number: PA-1278581

Thank you for being a member of the SoFi community and your continued loyalty. We wanted to reach out to let you know that we haven't received your monthly payment for your personal loan yet and it's currently 25 days past due with a payment due of $594.03. As a reminder, your payment was due on 10/25/2024.

Your account status is sent each month to consumer reporting agencies—which means this could affect your credit score. But, good news—you can keep your loan in good standing by making your payment today.

Making a payment is as easy as clicking here:

Your payment was returned.

RYAN,

We're sorry, but your bank recently returned payments made to your Platinum Card. We'd like to help by providing you some details:

11/20/24 - $40.00 paid via Autopay returned due to Insufficient Funds.

Returned payments aren't reflected in your balance and won't be applied to any remaining minimum payment you may have.

A returned payment can be a pain. To help you deal with the situation, we'd like you to consider one or more of the following options:

1. If you have questions about a specific return, please contact the bank that returned the payment.
2. To make a payment, visit Online Banking or use the Capital One Mobile app.

Personal Loan: PA-1513878

Hi Ryan,

We wanted to follow up with you regarding a notice you received from SoFi, letting you know that your Personal Loan lump-sum payment was returned unpaid by your bank.

What happened?

After receiving your payment, your loan was re-amortized; this was before we received notice from your financial institution that your payment was returned.

What does this mean?

This means your loan schedule and new monthly payment amount was re-calculated based on your ultimately returned lump-sum payment. The sum of your returned payment lowered your loan's principal balance, which resulted in a lower monthly payment—which means you are paying less in error.

To avoid leaving an unpaid balance due at the end of your loan's maturity, we conducted a new re-amortization to adjust your payment schedule and increase your monthly payment amount to get you back on track.

Your new payment amount is: $991.72

If you have auto-pay set up for your loan, please be aware this new payment will be automatically deducted each month.

To view your account details and payment information, simply log in to your SoFi account online or directly from our mobile app.

How can I get in touch if I have questions?

We want to be sure you fully understand your new loan schedule. If you have any questions at all, please don't hesitate to contact us using the information below.

Dear Ryan,

Account Number: PA-1513878

Thank you for being a member of the SoFi community and your continued loyalty. We wanted to reach out to let you know that we haven't received your monthly payment for your personal loan yet and it's currently 20 days past due with a payment due of $986.19. As a reminder, your payment was due on 11/16/2024.

Your account status is sent each month to consumer reporting agencies—which means this could affect your credit score. But, good news—you can keep your loan in good standing by making your payment today.

Making a payment is as easy as clicking here:
